COLLISION OF TRAINS ON SANTA FE ROAD.

Twenty-four Dead and Injured, Victims of Carelessness.

Five Cars and Three Engines Destroyed—Oil-soaked Wreckage Takes Fire—Bodies of Trainmen Burned and Mail Consumed—Survivors' Statements.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NEEDLES, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Limited trains Nos. 3 and 4 on the Santa Fé Railroad met in a head-end collision two miles west of Franconia, twenty-five miles east of Needles, at 5:15 o'clock this morning. No. 4, east-bound, was drawn by two engines, and was making about forty miles an hour when it met, on a curve, No. 3, west-bound, was running at about fifty miles an hour. A sand hill was between the approaching trains, and the engineers did not see each other until too late to prevent the collision. So quickly did the trains approach that the trainmen had not time to jump, and were caught in the wreck. The boiler of one of the engines exploded, scattering the oil from the fuel tanks over the entire mass of wreckage.

Three cars of train No. 3 and two cars of No. 4 were entirely consumed. Firemen Case and Armitage were caught in the wreck and burned to death. H. E. Barnhardt and Sam Brown, waiters on No. 3, were also burned.

The dead are:

P. M. M'ELLIGOTT, engineer, train No. 4.

W. L. CASE, fireman, No. 4.

C. H. ARMITAGE, fireman, No. 4.

H. F. GOLDSMITH, fireman, No. 3.

H. E. BARNHARDT, barber, No. 3.

SAM BROWN, waiter, No. 3.

The injured:

JOE MORSE, conductor, No. 4; badly cut and scalded.

R. R. HIGGINS, conductor, No. 3; badly cut and scalded.

J. R. WILLIAMS, engineer, No. 3; badly scalded and bruised.

L. L. HOLMES, engineer, No. 4; badly cut and bruised, jaw broken.

L. W. FAIR, waiter, No. 3, bruised; address No. 3210 State street, Chicago.

PASSENGERS INJURED.

P. J. STEENSON, right shoulder, left ankle and left wrist, strained and bruised; address North Marengo and Robert streets, Pasadena, Cal.

W. L. FRANKLIN, left shin skinned; address Nos. 14 and 16 Fremont street, San Francisco.

A special train was run to the scene of the wreck at an early hour this morning with all the doctors that could be found. The dead were brought to Needles, and the injured were given medical aid and taken to Los Angeles by special train.

The wreck is one of the most serious that has happened on the Arizona division for years. The rear Pullman car of No. 4, after being cut off from the wrecked train and allowed to drop back by gravity, failed to stop from the action of the brakes, and ran down the grade at a high rate of speed. It was only stopped when it encountered the opposite grade, after crossing the Colorado River. The entire trains were made up of Pullman cars, and this fact probably accounts for the escape of the passengers from injury, with the exception of the three named.

AT SAN BERNARDINO.

SPECIAL TRAIN'S BRIEF STOP.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The special train, made up at the scene of the frightful Santa Fé wreck east of Needles this morning, arrived in this city at 11:10 o'clock tonight with the wounded members of the train crew and the passengers who were west bound. The latter escaped almost without a scratch, and, marvelous as it seems, of the thirty or more people who were coming to California on this limited train, while seven of the train crew and help are dead and others fatally hurt, not one of the regular passengers has more than a scratch or slight bruise to show for the dreadful experience. Conductor Higgins of Needles, who was in charge of train No. 4 and who was fatally hurt, had a sinking spell just as the train pulled into the yards here, and it was thought he was dying, but he was still breathing as the train left for Los Angeles, a few moments later. He is injured internally; his hip is broken, and he is badly burned. Dr. Booth of Needles, who was caring for the injured, did not think it possible for Higgins to survive long. His wife and two little children boarded the train at Needles, and are with the dying man on the train.

CHICAGO MAN'S STORY.

"The shock was so slight that I hardly felt it in the fourth car," said E. H. Rodman, a manufacturer's agent from Chicago. "I knew that the stop was sudden, but could not realize that such a wreck could have occurred and anybody come out of it alive. The lighter character of the vestibuled car in front, a combination coach, explains the death of so many of the trainmen who were in it. It was crushed by the weight of the heavy coaches behind, and then flames aided to the horror of the surroundings.

"But none of the sleepers were damaged, and the passengers rapidly crawled out. All endeavors were bent on saving those who were so badly hurt in the two front cars, one on each train. Two of the engines were oil burners, and this supplied the fuel, and the engines and seven coaches were soon enveloped in flames, and I think the bodies of at least three of the trainmen who were killed were burned.

"One of the sad details is the fact that the body of a little child was in a casket on board the east-bound train, being taken east for burial. The casket and contents are in ashes, and the parents who were in charge of it on this train are going back to Los Angeles. It was about three hours from the time of the accident until help arrived.

"Trains came from both directions at about the same time, and as soon as possible the company was doing all it could for us. The passengers and those of the train crew who could help, by main force pulled away four cars, one at a time, from the burning mass and saved them. One of the coaches which was loosened from the east-bound train got away and ran back down the hill for eight miles. The brakes would not work, and the car could not be stopped until it hit a level piece of track.

"Some of the passengers said they did not feel the shock of the collision at all, and the only one who got much of a scratch was one who was in a drawing-room. Not being able to get out at the door, he broke through a glass with his revolver and crawled out, and was cut by the broken glass.

"The dining-car conductor on the west-bound train, who escaped unhurt, but with very scanty clothing, said that the men in the combination coach had no chance for their lives at all. He said: 'Two of my waiters are dead; my chef badly hurt, and all I saved is what you see I have on. My clothes, my money and most of my help are gone.'

"The three Pullman cars which made up the train that arrived here tonight were not damaged, and the hurried glance allowed by the train's five-minute stop in this city did not indicate that even so much as the glass was broken. The heavy frame of the cars saved them, but helped to crush what was ahead.

A railroad man in authority here said tonight that the loss to the company would not be less than $250,000 in equipment alone, leaving out of account the loss to business; possible damage suits and everything else but the rolling stock ruined, which included seven coaches and three engines.

TWO LOS ANGELES MEN.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 20.—C. F. Bisselman of the People's Store, Los Angeles, who was on No. 3, stated to the Associated Press representative:

"Our train was running about fifty miles per hour, some twenty miles east of Needles, when the wreck occurred. I had just dressed when the train stopped. In looking out, I saw flames shooting up from the forward engine of both trains, and in a moment the fire was spreading fiercely. The scenes that followed were heartrending, and the impression made upon my mind will never be forgotten. Men, women and children were fainting or screaming, which, with the shrieks of the dying and injured, added to the horror of the situation.

"In a few minutes five cars, two buffet cars, two dining cars and one parlor car, were burned and three engines were completely destroyed, being blown to pieces.

"On taking one injured man from under a tank, the entire skin of his body dropped off, and he died in a few minutes in great agony.

"All the mail on our train and No. 4 was destroyed. By main force of all the uninjured, two cars were pushed from danger of fire."

N. L. Cook of Los Angeles said: "I was in the fifth car of the east-bound train, and we were going pretty fast down grade, when all of a sudden our train stopped. There was nothing more than a severe jar, accompanying a sudden halt, but in a few minutes the air was full of cries of pain of horror and screams of death. The dead as well as the injured were taken to a place of safety.

"I have seen many accidents of a horrible nature," stated Mr. Cook, "but this was the most sickening thing I ever witnessed."

William Armantage, the fireman who was killed, was formerly of this city. His parents are living on the outskirts of the town at the present time.

WOUNDED BROUGHT TO LOS ANGELES.

TRAIN BEARING VICTIMS ARRIVES IN THIS CITY.

Eleven of Injured Trainmen and Dining-car Employees on Board—All but One or Two of Them Out of Danger—Stories of Survivors.

The special train bringing to this city the unwrecked cars of west-bound train No. 3, together with the passengers and wounded trainmen and dining-car employés, arrived at La Grande Station at 1:24 o'clock this morning.

As early as 10 o'clock friends and relatives of the victims of the disaster began to gather at the depot for the purpose of meeting the in-coming unfortunates or to learn definite news as to the fate of those reported to have been killed or injured. Among the watchers were a number of ladies; also a lot of colored folks, friends or relatives of the ill-fated dining-car crews, all anxious to find out the worst and lend what assistance they could.

Bresee Bros.' two ambulances and one from Paul & Son's had been ordered to the station by the railway officials and surgeons to convey the injured to hospitals. There were also a number of carriages and omnibuses in waiting to assist in removing the belated passengers from the train.

In the forward Pullman coach were eleven of the injured trainmen and employés, all that were brought in, the rest being so slightly hurt as not to make their going to the hospital necessary.

As soon as the train drew in, Dr. N. H. Morrison, chief surgeon for the railway company, alighted from the hospital car and dismissed the ambulances, saying that it had been decided not to remove the injured to the Sisters' Hospital till morning, as they were all comfortable for the night, and would be better off if left undisturbed. It was feared that the chill night air would be detrimental to the patients if removal before morning was attempted.

Dr. Morrison and Dr. H. K. Wing met the train at San Bernardino. Dr. Freeman, the company's surgeon at Needles and Dr. Booth and Dr. Rees also accompanied the train to the city. All of the surgeons remained with the wounded men throughout the night.

Dr. Morrison stated that all of the injured were doing well. The only ones very seriously hurt were Conductor R. R. Haines of train No. 3, and L. Homes, engineer of train No. 4. Only six of the patients, he said, would have to be removed to the hospital in the morning.

Conductor Higgins has both legs broken, is internally injured, has one hip crushed and is badly burned about the face. His wife boarded the train at Needles and helped to nurse him all the way to the city and through the night.

Engineer Holmes has several fractured ribs, a broken jaw, and is badly burned about the face.

The rest of the victims are cut, bruised and scalded in various ways, as stated in the telegraph advices.

CLAIM AGENT'S STORY.

H. J. Franklin, claim agent of the Santa Fé Railroad, was at Needles when the wreck took place. He immediately went there, and returned here on this morning's train. In speaking of the collision, he said:

"It was caused by a mistake in the orders, or because some one did not follow instructions. It is impossible to tell just what was the trouble until an investigation has been made. I believe that No. 4 had orders to meet the west-bound train at Franconia, but I am not sure. One crew must have failed to comply with its order. I can account for the collision in no other way.

"The wreck was the worst that ever happened at this end of the road. No one knows how fast the trains were running when they came together, but the speed must have been considerable. The engines bored right into each other, and the cars piled up on top of them. The whole thing was soon ablaze, and three of the unfortunate firemen were consumed in the wreck. The pile of wreckage covers a space of about 200 feet. It was impossible to save anything from the burning cars or to rescue the men from the engines after the fire got well started.

"As soon as the wrecking train reached the scene of the accident work was commenced to build a temporary track around the wreck. This was completed at 2:15 p.m. and the two trains, or rather what was left of them, proceeded on their journeys.

"There were forty passengers west-bound and only eight going east. Fortunately they escaped uninjured with

HUNDRED VICTIMS.

Smuggler-Union a Smoking Pit.

Over Twenty Dead are Taken Therefrom.

Fire Starts in the Colorado Mine's Outer Works.

About Half of the Miners Escape—The Buildings Quickly Destroyed.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

TELLURIDE (Colo.) Nov. 20.—What is likely to prove the most disastrous accident that has ever occurred in a metallic mine in Colorado resulted today from a fire which burned the buildings at the mouth of the Bullion tunnel through which the Smuggler-Union mine is worked, and which filled the mine with deadly gas and smoke. It is impossible to give even an approximate estimate of the loss of life, but it is believed that it will reach nearly, if not quite, one hundred. Twenty-two are known to have perished.

The fire started about 7 o'clock this morning from a defective flue in the bunkhouse at the mouth of the tunnel. It quickly communicated with the other buildings. The dense smoke from the burning converter house, which was saturated with oil, began pouring into the tunnel, which, with the shafts of the mine, acted as a chimney.

The day shift had just gone on duty, and before they could be warned of their danger, the levels and stopes were filled with smoke and gas. As soon as the men became aware of their danger, efforts were made to reach the surface through various exits, and about half of those in the mine escaped. It will be impossible to ascertain the number still in the mine for several hours, on account of the gas in some of the levels.

The Smuggler-Union is one of the oldest mines in the district, and has several abandoned openings, some of which were available. Most of those who escaped did so through the old Union workings and the old Sheridan tunnel. A rescuing party cut a connection through from the workings adjoining and took out part of the men.

Although the buildings were quickly consumed, the dense smoke continued to pour into the tunnel, and it was not until 3 o'clock this afternoon that it occurred to the management to shut off the draft by blasting rock into the tunnel. It is believed by mining men that had this been done as soon as the fire started all loss of life might have been averted.

The property loss is about $50,000, fully covered by insurance.

LATER:—At 3 o'cock, twenty-two bodies had been recovered. These have all been identified, as follows:

AUGUST JAANTA.
ALLEN HENDERSON.
CRIS MAKI.
TORTENETOR KNOS, the shift boss.
WILLIAM WARFIELD.
JOHN PETERSON.
WILLIAM JONES.
WILLIAM GRAHAM.
FRANK JADRA.
MART JADRA.
GUS SUNDBERG.
OBITA BEBATTA.
ANTON ANECTI.
JOHN GOSSON.
LEWIS BEGIGIN.
E. DAHLNSTRON.
JOE NELSON.
JOHN AHONE.
MARK STARK.
ALEXANDER SOLOMAN.
SOREY BARKLEY, time boss.
JAMES SUNSTRUM.

HUGH J. O'NEILL, the engineer, was taken out alive, but is not expected to recover.

Every physician in Telluride was summoned to the mine, and was kept busy attending those of the rescuers who were overcome with gas.

Seventeen of the twenty-two bodies found were on the seventh level. Between seventy-five and ninety men were working on the ninth level, and this has not yet been explored. On account of the gas and smoke, these levels could not be entered because of the danger of suffocation, for twelve hours after the flames started.

The Smuggler-Union Mining Company, which owns the mine and the tunnel, is composed of New York and Boston capitalists. A. L. Collins and B. B. Lawrence, the managers of the company, are both absent, the former being in New Mexico and the latter in New York.

HUNTING EVIDENCE.

Police Officials Believe That Jane Toppan Murdered Allan Davis, His Wife and Two Daughters.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CATAUMET (Mass.) Nov. 20.—The bodies of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Davis were disinterred today and an autopsy held to determine the exact cause of death. Mr. and Mrs. Davis died within a short time of each other last July and within a few weeks of the death of Mrs. Harry Gordon of Chenoa, and Mrs. Mary Gibbs, their daughters. Miss Jane Toppan is accused of having killed Mrs. Gibbs.

The State officers suspect that the four deaths were due to poison administered by Miss Toppan, who was the nurse in each case.

CAPTURE OF COLON.

Unexpected Attack by Liberals.

Prefect Taken and Over Twelve Dead.

About Thirty Men Wounded in the Engagement.

Cable Communication Interrupted for a Time—Comment at Washington.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

COLON (Colombia) Nov. 20.—[Wired from Galveston.] The Liberals made an unexpected attack on Colon at 8 o'clock last night. The Government was not prepared, and there was no resistance. After some fighting in front of the cuartel, and in certain streets for an hour and a half, the Liberals gained possession of all the public offices and the town of Colon.

The Prefect, Guardia, is a prisoner. Over twelve men were killed and about thirty men were wounded.

There has been no telegraphic communication with Panama since last evening, and it is surmised here that Panama is now being attacked.

THE NEWS CONFIRMED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The State Department has received official confirmation of the capture of Colon by the Liberals. The cable was interrupted for a brief period, but is now restored. Capt. Perry of the Iowa, the senior naval officer at Panama, has been instructed to land marines, if necessary, to maintain transit across the isthmus.

A dispatch has been received from Commander McCrea, saying that 100 blue jackets had been landed from the Machias at Colon, and had taken charge of the railway station. This was not done because of any further disturbances, but as a matter of precaution.

There were long conferences between Secretary Long and Admiral Crowninshield, and between the admiral and Mr. Hill, Assistant Secretary of State. Later, the two latter went over to the White House and saw the President. This was the first time since 1885, when Admiral Jouett opened up transit across the Isthmus of Panama, that communication had been actually stopped in such fashion as to seem to require the interference of the United States naval forces.

The first news of the trouble at Colon came from United States Consul-General Gudger at Panama. Later, there came a second message from Judger, announcing that Colon had been taken. This was confirmed more explicitly by the United States Consul at Colon. The latter official said that Colon was taken by the rebels last night. While all business is suspended, transit is not interrupted, and American life and property are safe and not likely to be in danger.

Taken altogether, these dispatches were regarded by the officials here as indicating a lack of purpose on the part of the Liberals to interfere with transit across the isthmus. It was felt that the brief interruptions caused by the taking up of the railway and the cutting of the telegraphic wires was nothing more than a temporary device to prevent the government from hurrying reinforcements by rail to Colon. The officials find support for this belief in the fact that communication was reopened across the isthmus the moment Colon was captured.

Still, as a result of the consultation today, it was resolved to take no chances of the infringement of the treaty rights of the United States. Therefore, Dr. Hill cabled Consul-General Gudger a direction to notify all parties who are engaged in molesting or interfering with free transit across the isthmus that such interference must cease. He was also directed to consult freely with Capt. Perry, the commander of the United States battleship Iowa, now lying at Panama. Then Capt. Perry was cabled by Secretary Long to land marines, if necessary, for the protection of free transit across the isthmus, immediately, within the treaty rights and obligations of the United States. At the same time, Capt. Perry was enjoined to avoid bloodshed, if possible. Meanwhile, news came that Commander McCrea of the Machias, which is now lying at Colon, had anticipated this instruction from the Navy Department by landing a force of blue jackets at Colon, and occupying the railway stations. The understanding at the Navy Department was that the landing party consisted of 100 sailors, who are employed in lieu of marines, of whom the Machias has an insignificant force.

The text of Commander McCrea's dispatch is as follows:

U.S.S. MACHIAS (Colon) Nov. 20, 1901.—Secretary Navy, Washington: The insurgents have possession of the city. At the request of the proper authorities, I have landed force for the protection of property of the railroad.

[Signed] M'CREA.

A cablegram received from Capt. Perry at Panama confirms that which Consul-General Gudger communicated to the State Department. It does not appear that Capt. Perry has yet landed a force.

WIRE INTERRUPTIONS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Western Union Telegraph Company's central cable office here was advised today that telegraphic communication between Colon and Panama is interrupted, owing to insurrectionary movements at Colon. As messages for Colon can go forward via Key West, Fla., and messages from Panama via Galveston, this interruption had but a local effect. Later the central cable office of the Western Union Telegraph Company announced that telegraph communication between Colon and Panama had been reëstablished.

LEGATION OPINION.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The news of the situation on the isthmus came to the Colombian legation here this afternoon, in the following cablegram from Gen. Arajona, acting Governor of Panama, in the absence of Gen. Alban, who is leading the Chorrera expedition:

PANAMA, Nov. 20.—Colon is being attacked. Scarcity of troops here. Traffic may be interrupted.

While the above dispatch does not state that the city has fallen, Mr. Herrera, the Colombian chargé d'affaires at Washington, credits, of course, the news to this effect that has come through diplomatic and naval channels. When asked what results might be expected from the capture of the city, he said:

"It will depend entirely on the success or failure of the expedition under Gen. Alban, which is headed for Chorrera, to engage the insurgents at that point. If Gen. Alban is successful, the recapture of Colon should be a comparatively easy matter. But if, on the other hand, the government expedition should be defeated, the results undoubtedly would be disastrous, for the insurgents then would have, temporarily, at least, undisputed sway over the entire isthmus."

Mr. Herrera naturally was much concerned at the news, especially because of the close proximity of Colon to Panama, the leading city on the isthmus, and second only in importance to Bogota. He is not aware of the purposes of Gen. Diego de Castro, who arrived in New York yesterday, and is reported to be coming to Washington for a conference with the Colombian officials here. Gen. Castro is known to be a staunch friend of the deposed President, San Clemente.

CONSUL-GENERAL'S ADVICES.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Arturo de Brigard, Consul-General of Colombia, today received private dispatches informing him that the Liberals had surprised and captured the city of Colon last night. His telegram places the loss at twelve killed and thirty wounded. Brigard said that the taking of the town does not amount to much, as it is not a fortified place, and that Gen. Carlos Alban, who is Governor of the Department of Panama, is now in the city of Panama, with 1100 trained troops.

He said that when Gen. Alban returned to Colon, the Liberals would run away. The Consul-General said en. Alban expected to give battle today to the Liberals on the Pacific side of Panama, at Chorrera. After that battle, the Consul said, the general would go to Colon. Gen. Alban has ample ammunition for all purposes.

Mr. Brigard said that when Gen. Alban left Colon he took all the available troops, leaving the town in charge of fifty policemen. At the office of the Panama Railway and Steamship Company, it was said that the officers had received advices that the town had been surprised by the Liberals. The advices did not say how many Liberals were in the attacking party, but it was supposed the force was not larger than 300.

REBELS' COUNTER MOVE.

THEY LOSE GEN. PALINO.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

COLON, Nov. 20.—[By Central American Cable.] On receipt of the news that Gen. Alban, the military commander of the isthmus, had started to attack the Liberals at Chorrera, near Panama, the latter detached 160 men under Gen. Palino to attack Colon. This force embarked on board a train bound from Panama to Colon yesterday evening, at Las Cascades Station, previously cutting off telegraphic communication across the isthmus. On arriving at the outskirts of Colon, where the government usually maintained a small guard, the rebels left the train, and in the initial skirmish, which began soon afterward, Palino was killed.

The command of the Liberals then devolved on Col. Frederico Barrera, and they continued their march on Colon, arriving there a few minutes after the train, thus surprising the whole town.

The government troops at Colon were outnumbered by the Liberals. Fighting immediately began at the Cuartel (barracks,) which was soon taken. There Señor Jaen, a Judge of the Criminal Court, was killed, and Señor Muskus, the District Representative of the Department of the Interior, was mortally wounded.

Fighting subsequently occurred at the Town Hall, which was also taken by the Liberals. Among the prisoners captured by the Liberals there were the prefect guardia and the commandant of police.

Señor Parenas, the Mayor, managed to reach the gunboat Gen. Pinson, which has sailed for a destination unknown. The whole affair was over in less than three hours.

Communication with Panama was restored today. This revealed that no fighting had occurred there; that everything was quiet, and that the city was still in the hands of the government.

The issue now depends on the result of the fighting which is doubtless occurring at Chorrera, news of which is anxiously awaited here.

The Liberals are busily raising reinforcements locally. They are reported to have several hundred men at different railroad stations between here and Panama.

At a conference between Commander McCrea of the Machias, United States Consul Malmros, Col. Shalter, superintendent of the Panama Railroad, and Col. Herrera, the commander of the Liberals, the latter was informed why the marines had been landed from the Machias. Herrera promised to guard the city with his troops.

Trains will be crossing the isthmus as usual tomorrow. There has been no obstruction to free transit so far. The news of the capture of Colon, which reached Panama when communication with that city was restored this morning, was a great surprise to the inhabitants of the city.

According to the latest news received here from Panama, nothing has yet been heard in that city concerning the outcome of Gen. Alban's expedition against the Liberal forces at Chorrera.

In the meantime, the government troops at Panama, numbering about three hundred men, are busily engaged in the construction of earthworks and barricades at the railroad bridge going into the city, in anticipation of an early Liberal attack.

Col. Shaler says that no request has been made upon him for a special train to convey government troops to Colon tonight. If such a request be made it will be granted, but Col. Shaler does not consider it likely. The Liberals say that they have at least 700 men in possession of the different railroad stations on the line between here and Panama. These men will doubtless do their utmost to prevent the transportation of government troops to this point.

SALVADOR AIDING REBELS.

REVIEW OF SITUATION.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Sarriol, of the Flint, Eddy and American Trading Company, today received a letter from a correspondent in Panama, dated November 11, which contained the following review of the political situation:

"Ecuador is at present absolutely neutral. But on the other hand, Salvador has taken a position favorable to the revolutionists, and is furnishing them with war supplies and a steamer, a matter of no small consequence to this government (Colombia) which possesses only a small, old ship on this side. If all said or rumored is true, we shall soon have war."

SOUTH AFRICA.

LIFE OF PRO-BOER NOT A HAPPY ONE.

BROKERS SING "GOD SAVE THE KING" FOR NICKALLS.

Kitchener Reports Small Victory—Krause Accused of High Treason. Court of Arbitration Decides it is Incompetent to Consider Boer Appeal.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Sir Patterson Nickalls, J.P., a prominent member of the Stock Exchange, presided last night at a pro-Boer meeting held at Maidstone, Kent. Several hundred red Tories occupied the gallery for the express purpose of creating a disturbance. Immediately after Sir Patterson Nickalls, who is a Liberal, commenced to speak, he was interrupted by groans and songs. Finally a lot of rowdies stormed the platform, and the meeting broke up in great disorder.

On the Stock Exchange today the brokers passed the time in singing "God Save the King," and in making various other demonstrations against the unpopular member.

ROUNDED UP BOERS.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—A dispatch from Lord Kitchener, dated from Pretoria today, says Lieut. Colonbrander's column has rounded up Byers and Badenhorst's Boer commando thirty miles northwest of Pretoria. The troops killed three men, wounded three and captured fifty-four, including two field cornets. The column also captured much stock and munitions of war.

CHARGE OF HIGH TREASON.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 20. — When Dr. Krause, the former Governor of Johannesburg, who was arrested September 2, was brought up on remand at Bow street today for the thirteenth time the Treasury representatives withdrew the application for the prisoner's extradition to South Africa, and asked to have Dr. Krause committed to the Old Bailey on charges of high treason and incitement to murder.

The Treasury officials consider there is ample justification to try Dr. Krause here on the charge of inciting Cornelius Broecksma (former public prosecutor of Johannesburg, who was executed September 30) to murder Douglas Foster, an English lawyer attached to Lord Roberts' staff, who was very active against the Boers. Witnesses were called to support the charges.

Dr. Krause was remanded for a fortnight in £4000 bail.

INCOMPETENT TO INTERFERE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

THE HAGUE, Nov. 20.—The Administrative Council of the Court of Arbitration decided today that it was incompetent to consider the Boer appeal for intervention in the war in South Africa.

RECORDS UNTRUSTWORTHY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—According to the Tribune's London correspondent, the Daily News endeavors to show that the government's monthly returns, which purport to give an accurate record of the deaths in the South African camps are untrustworthy. An examination of the blue book, it is said, resulted in the disclosure that the deaths not accounted for in three monthly returns, which it is possible to compare with the tables in the blue book, amount to 1500.

OBJECT TO AGITATION.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Notwithstanding the general sympathy in Switzerland for the Boers, says a dispatch to the London Times and the New York Times from Zurich, some Swiss object to the aggressive agitation against Great Britain carried on in that city by the Pan-Germanic League, which convened a big pro-Boer mass meeting on Monday night. The meeting was addressed by an alleged Boer commandant and others.

BULLER EPISODE.

PUBLIC LOSING INTEREST.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The London correspondent of the Tribune says that Lord Roberts's Horse Guards' reception was well attended yesterday, and he was heartily cheered by the crowd outside. There was no evidence that England had another Dreyfus affair in the Buller episode. Courtesies and compliments were exchanged, and good feeling prevailed. Military officers have not held Lord Roberts responsible for Gen. Buller's downfall, since his removal was Brodrick's act, sanctioned with reluctance by the King.

All talk about a libel suit has dribbled out and military experts are beginning to doubt whether the War Office will publish the text of the Colenso heliograph message to Ladysmith.

HIS FATAL MISTAKE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Believing that he had mortally wounded his wife, while shooting at a fancied burglar, William D. Brockman, a linotype operator, living in Austin, turned his revolver upon himself and committed suicide. As a precaution against burglars Brockman always slept with a revolver under his pillow. Early this morning, imagining he saw an intruder at the window of his bedroom, he fired, the bullet passing through the pillow close beside his wife's head. Frantically he asked her if he had killed her. She replied sleepily that he had not, but too late to save his life.

A mortgage for $10,000,000, given January 16, 1891, by the American Sugar Refining Company to the Central Trust Company of New York, has been canceled at Jersey City. The mortgage was to secure an issue of 6 per cent. first-mortgage bonds, that were to mature in 1911. It was given when the American Sugar Refining Company was organized.

Aguinaldo Wishes to Conquer Congress.

Asks Gen. Chaffee to Grant Him Leave.

Remarkable Attack Upon Rebel Stronghold by Waller's Command.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Nov. 20.—[By Manila Cable.] Aguinaldo has written to Gen. Chaffee, the military Governor of the Philippines, asking the latter's permission to go before Congress and express the desires of the Filipino people. Aguinaldo further requests to be accompanied by eight friends, whom he designates, four of whom are prisoners at Guam, while the others are prominent in Manila.

Sixto Lopes, who has been in the United States and in Europe on Filipino matters, and who is now at Hongkong, has written to Gov. Taft asking to be exempted from taking the oath of allegiance to the United States on his arrival at Manila, asserting that this action might injure his labors in behalf of peace.

A fund is being raised by the Federal party in Manila for the purpose of attempting to prevent the execution of Filipino Gen. Isidoro Torres, who surrendered to the American authorities in the early part of this year, and who was later tried on charges of having violated the rules of warfare, and sentenced to death.

Several Congressmen will be asked to exert their influence in favor of Gen. Torres.

AN HEROIC ATTACK.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

MANILA, Nov. 20.—Maj. L. T. W. Waller of the Marine Corps has cabled Rear-Admiral Rodgers at Manila a full and detailed account of the attack on November 7, by the men of his command upon the rebel stronghold at Bojoton, near Basi, Island of Samar.

Three insurgent camps were destroyed, forty bamboo cannon were captured, and much rice and other stores were destroyed. The rebel stronghold was almost impregnable. The trails leading to it were lined with poisoned spears sticking from the ground, and were filled with hidden pitfalls.

Maj. Waller's command attacked the enemy unexpectedly. To do this they had to scale a cliff 200 feet high. This they climbed barefoot, over bamboo ladders. At the top they found boulders piled ready to precipitate upon an attacking party.

Maj. Waller says he was personally not present at the action. He praises Capt. David C. Porter and Capt. Hiram I. Beards for their splendid work, and says too much praise cannot be given to the marines themselves, whose behavior he characterized as brilliant in every respect. The major considers the scaling of cliffs 200 feet high as a new feature of warfare, and says such men would be able to do anything anywhere. Thirty of the enemy were killed. The marines suffered a few trifling wounds.

Rear-Admiral Rodgers has replied to Maj. Waller, congratulating him on the successful action by his command.

DEMOCRAT UNSEATED.

Clifton J. Pratt Declared by Supreme Court to Have Been Legally Elected Attorney-General of Kentucky.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

FRANKFORT (Ky.) Nov. 20.—The Court of Appeals today reversed the judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court, which sustained the decision of the State Contest Board in giving the office of Attorney-General to Judge Robert J. Breckinridge, and holds that Clifton J. Pratt of Hopkins county, the Republican nominee, is the legal officer. The decision of the court is final, and directs that Breckinridge retire immediately from office. Breckinridge was on the Democratic ticket headed by William Goebel for Governor two years ago, and Pratt was on the Republican ticket headed by W. S. Taylor for Governor that year. Justice Buffy delivered the opinion of the court, Judges Bernard, Dureele and O'Rear, Republicans, concurring. Judges Hobson, Painter and White, Democrats, dissent from this decision.

Judge Breckinridge said recently that if removed he would become a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor two years hence.

This case is the last of the contests growing out of the election of 1899. All of the Republican candidates for State offices with the exception of Pratt, appealed immediately from the decision of the State Contest Board, and a Democratic Court of Appeals sustained the seating of the Democratic claimants. Pratt waited until the political complexion of the higher court changed and then acted.

MURDER THE CHARGE.

Four Ringleaders in Fort Leavenworth Prison Outbreak Charged With Killing of Guard Waldrupe.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LEAVENWORTH (Kan.) Nov. 20.—The Coroner's jury investigating the killing of Guard Waldrupe, who was shot by one of the escaping prisoners in the Fort Leavenworth military prison during the outbreak November 8, today returned a verdict holding Fred Robinson, Gilbert Mullins, Frank Thompson and James Wilson, ringleaders, guilty of murder, and the other twenty-two mutineers guilty of conspiracy to commit murder. The four principals were armed with shotguns. Nine of the convicts are still at large.

BONFIRES BURNED FOR WILL MATHIS.

OXFORD PEOPLE WERE EAGER TO ROAST THE MURDERER.

Pursued by a Large Posse, Assisted by Bloodhounds, the Moonshiner Surrendered Knowing Capture Was Certain. Accomplice Gives Details of Crime.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

OXFORD (Miss.) Nov. 20.—Will Mathis, who is charged with the murder of two deputy marshals, Montgomery by name, walked into the little town of Dallas, twelve miles south of here, tonight, and surrendered to a Justice of the Peace and two citizens. Mathis had been closely pursued by a large posse with bloodhounds, and, realizing that his capture was certain, the fugitive voluntarily gave himself up and asked for protection. He was turned over to the posse and started for Oxford, but it is understood at a late hour tonight that he will not be brought to this city. The officers fear mob violence.

When the news reached Oxford the streets were immediately filled with people, and for a time there was great excitement. Bonfires were built, and many threats of summary vengeance against the alleged murderer were heard on all sides. Addresses were made by the local officers and cool-headed business men, and at 11 o'clock tonight the excitement has subsided, and it is believed that the threatened lynching has been averted. The local officers announce that they will protect the prisoner at all hazards.

The two murdered deputies went to Mathis's house to arrest him for alleged moonshining. On the following day the bodies of the Montgomerys were found in the ruins of Mathis's house, which had been burned during the night. Mathis had fled, taking the horse of one of the deputies.

Mrs. Mathis and three negroes are under arrest in Oxford charged with complicity in the murders. Before a coroner's jury they have related the details of the crime. The negroes under arrest are George and Bill Jackson, brothers, and Orlando Laster.

Laster says that Mathis induced the officers to spend the night at his house and shot them after they had gone to bed, the negro holding the lamp. The negro procured the gun for Mathis from Matt Owens, Mathis's father-in-law. The latter loaded the gun with buckshot before sending it to Mathis. Mrs. Mathis has confessed to being in the house when her husband did the shooting. She left for her father's soon afterward, and Mathis, the negro says, after robbing the bodies of watches, money and pistols, put them on the floor, placed a straw mattress over them, and set it on fire. Mrs. Mathis and the negro both admit that Bill Jackson, who left before the shooting occurred, tried to prevail on Mathis not to commit the crime.

HERO REFUSES HELP.

Rear-Admiral Schley Requests That No Effort Be Made to Raise a Fund to Defray His Expenses.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

KNOXVILLE (Tenn.) Nov. 20.—Following the report that the court of inquiry would cost Rear-Admiral Schley $20,000, the Knoxville Sentinel on November 18 sent him a dispatch asking him if he would consent to accept public subscriptions.

Today the Sentinel received a personal letter from Rear-Admiral Schley, the purport of which was that he cannot accept the offer. He says the report as to the cost is a mistake, as the amount is not as great as reported. He suggests that the matter is "too delicate to discuss," and trusts that his friends will "appreciate his position and respect it."

The murder of Mamie Cunningham, the schoolgirl of New York City, on Memorial Day, 1890, has just come up again in the courts, through the discharge of Frank Farrell, the suspected murderer. The girl was found beaten to death in the basement of her home. Farrell was arrested soon after the murder, and on the trial jury disagreeing, was released on $1000 bail. The evidence was not considered sufficient to justify a second trial.

QUEEN DRAGA MAY BE DEAD.

Rumor of Assassination Reaches Vienna.

Another Report is That She Killed Herself.

Crisis Has Been Expected in Servia and This Gives Rumors Currency.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Neue Freie Presse prints a report that Queen Draga of Servia was shot in the streets in Belgrade. Another rumor is that she committed suicide. No details but the above have been received, and it is impossible to confirm either rumor. Reports from other sources deny the statement that Queen Draga was killed, and assert that the rumor of her death was caused by an hysterical scene with King Alexander.

The rumored assassination of Queen Draga attracts more notice than it otherwise would owing to the belief which is based on information from many sources, that the crisis which has long existed in Servia has reached a climax. The root of this climax is financial difficulty. The army of all ranks is receiving little or no pay, and its enthusiasm for the Obrenovitch dynasty, which King Milan kept alive by making the army his first consideration, has now vanished. The trouble was increased by King Alexander's marriage, and subsequent incidents in connection therewith, especially Queen Draga's insistence that her brother, young Lieut. Lunjivitza, should be acknowledged as heir to the crown.

The hostility of the army is shared by the populace, and it is believed here that almost any outcome of the excitement is possible.

Queen Draga was formerly Mme. Maschin, a widow, and she had been lady in waiting to King Alexander's mother, the unfortunate Queen Natalie. Mme. Maschin was of obscure birth, and twelve years older than the young ruler, who took the throne when his father, the notorious King Milan, abdicated in 1889. King Alexander's liking for Mme. Maschin had been known for a long time in court circles, but the announcement of his betrothal to her in July, 1900, caused a great sensation. The Servian Ministry promptly resigned, declaring the proposed marriage preposterous, and a menace to the State. Ex-King Milan heard the news at Carlsbad, and immediately telegraphed his resignation as commander of the Servian army. He also started at once for Belgrade, but the young King again showed his spirit. He sent officers to the frontier to prevent his father's return, and organized a new Ministry.

Sweeping aside all opposition, King Alexander married Mme. Maschin in Belgrade August 5, 1900. Though the marriage had been so vigorously opposed officially, the people seemed to have no objection, and the bridal party was heartily cheered. The King had taken precaution, however, to have the streets lined with troops.

The domestic affairs of the King dropped from public attention until it was whispered early in the year that an heir was expected to the Servian throne. In May there was a scandal when it was announced that the expectation was without foundation. Queen Draga was at once accused of wilful deception of the King, and it was announced that he was furious with her. Public opinion was divided as to whether she was suffering from hysteria or had attempted to dupe the King. It was said that the King intended to apply to the Holy Synod for a divorce, but he did nothing, and the scandal was finally forgotten. Queen Draga, however, had lost her popularity with the people.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Somewhere out near the Farallones, buffeted about by every wind and manned by a farmer and his hired hand, is the steamer Cordelia Heald, thirty-nine tons burden, bound from San Pedro for the Klamath River, Oregon. Under favorable conditions the Heald has made the Farallones, off Golden Gate, in sixty days from San Pedro. The skipper told Pilot Matthiesson, day before yesterday, when the pilot boat, Gracie S. ran close to the Heald, that he did not want a tow, but did want some smoking tobacco.

The pilot had his men take a quantity of tobacco and provisions over to the Heald, and they refused to accept the dollar that the farmer-skipper offered in payment. The men found that the only beings on board the little steamer beside two men were two black cats. Though the vessel is equipped with an engine, it had not been used since leaving the southern port, the skipper depending upon sails. The Heald could not carry coal enough to last more than a few miles under any conditions. The skipper claims to know of some good gold claims on the Klamath, and says nothing can deter him from reaching them. The engine of the Heald is to be used on the claim when the diggings are reached. The Cordelia Heald was built at Oakland last year by Capt. John Heald, who, with two men, two women and a Chilean boy, left here for Nome. After three attempts to get under way and two or three attachment suits, the Heald finally drifted down the coast to San Diego, later being taken to San Pedro, where Capt. Heald sold the queer little vessel to her present owner.

CAUTIOUS WITTMAN BALKS AT THE HONOR.

MIGHT LOSE HIS HEAD IF CHIEF, BUT SAFE WHILE CAPTAIN.

Union Leaders Have Their Razors Out and No Fears That Mayor Schmitz's Police Commission Would Make Short Work of Him.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The failure of the Police Commissioners to elect a Chief of Police at their meeting Tuesday night united much comment today throughout the city. The most plausible reason assigned for the board's omission to act was that ex-Judge Wallace "was not prepared to vote." While Wallace has avoided discussing the subject of the new Chief with his associates, it is known that he was one of Capt. Wittman's strongest supporters, and hence the surprise at his abrupt motion to adjourn without going into an election was accentuated.

However, Wallace is a politician, and his term as Police Commissioner expires next January. One of his principal advisers is the one-time lieutenant of Chris Buckley, Jere Driscoll. This may possibly account for the lack of undue haste in selecting a Chief of Police Wittman, with an eye to future possibilities, insists upon retaining his rank as captain of police, so that should Mayor-elect Schmitz's new Police Commission fire him, he would not be out of a job.

A hard fight on Wittman has been made by the union-labor leaders, because of his stringent regulations during the recent strike. To Wittman, more than anyone else, was due the improvement of police rules toward the end of the strike. He clubbed several mouthed strikers unmercifully, and one man he chased into his own home and beat him badly. For this the man was arrested and prosecuted by the labor leaders. Wittman declared he would clear the streets of pickets, and he did it. It is safe to say that if Mayor appoints a Police Commission with leanings toward union labor, Wittman will be forced out of the Chief's office. He made a good head of police during Sullivan's sickness.

One curious feature of the contest for Chief, Lieut. Esola, the Examiner's candidate, is under consideration. He is a good officer, but he is so illiterate he cannot write his own report.

SEARCH FOR TREASURE.

ALBERT MAKING READY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 20.—Justin Albert, promoter of the expedition which starts shortly for Cocos Island in search for buried treasure, has left Seattle to purchase a schooner to carry the expedition to the island.

It is said that two of the steamers belonging to the Leyland line, recently purchased by the Morgan interests, are to be added to the Northern Pacific line, plying between this port and the Orient.

MISSING MERCHANT LOCATED.

NOT FAR FROM OLD HAUNTS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The Bee is authority for the statement that William Ingram, a Sacramento merchant, who mysteriously disappeared May 4 last, is alive and well, and likely to return soon to Sacramento. It says that he is not 100 miles away from Sacramento, but does not state his present residence.

Ingram was a member of the Schaw, Ingram & Batcher Company, and his disappearance is supposed to have been due to family troubles. All his interest in the firm, valued at $50,000, was deeded to his wife before he went away. The firm effected a settlement with Mrs. Ingram. On the day of his disappearance, he drew $125 from the firm, paid a few bills and then dropped out of sight, except that, a day or two later, letters were received from him, mailed in San Francisco. Detectives were never able to discover his whereabouts, and he was supposed to be dead or in some foreign land.

KLICKITAT STOCK SUFFERS.

SEVERE DROUGHT PREVAILS.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

TACOMA, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The eastern portion of Klickitat county is experiencing the most severe drought of years. There has been absolute failure of all rains, resulting in making barren deserts of ranges that are usually covered with heavy grass at this season. The only feed for sheep and cattle now remaining in the foothills is underbrush, and on the plains, dry grass of last year's growth. Sheep and cattle men have on hand only enough hay to feed their flocks from January to March, and unless hard pressed, dare not begin to feed it now.

Both sheep and cattle are fast losing flesh because of the scarcity of feed and lack of water. The season is now too far advanced to expect any growth of grass this year, compelling cattlemen to commence feeding hay very soon. As Klickitat county has no railroads, it is impossible to bring in feed from outside sources.

CONSPIRACY SET, BUT NEVER HATCHED.

DETAILS OF PLOT AGAINST THE YUKON GOVERNMENT.

Said to Have Been Planned by Hairbrained Miners and Nipped in the Bud by Co-operation of American and English Officials.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

VANCOUVER (B. C.) Nov. 20.—The Yukon insurrection story is not altogether without foundation, according to some newspaper men. They say that some hare-brained Americans drew up plans for forcibly overthrowing the police and government in the Yukon, somewhat similar to the historical Jameson raid in the Transvaal. Maj. Wood, N.W.P., discovered the plans and took prompt steps to suppress it, American officials at Skagway coöperating.

The discovery of the scheme is supposed to have nipped it in the bud. The Yukon police force consists of about 250 men who are provided with Lee-Enfields. When the scheme was discovered the Maxim and Colt guns were mounted at White House, which was the first place to be attacked. Maj. Snyder, in charge of the police there, also received police reinforcements, and patrols were kept on duty night and day.

It is said the scheme originated in Seattle, and $250,000 was available to aid the venture. The information has been obtained from ex-police officials of the Yukon force, and members of the gambling fraternity who have come to the coast cities for the winter, and is guardedly confirmed by the officials who have just come down from the North.

"SOAPY SMITH" GANG.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

VICTORIA (B. C.) Nov. 20.—C. D. Newton, a member of the Atlin Board of Trade, who arrived recently from the North, speaking of the alleged conspiracy to overthrow the Yukon government, said he had heard of it before he had left the North, but had paid little attention to it. The "Soapy Smith" gang, he said, is still to be found at Skagway in considerable numbers, and to them Newton attributes any conspiracy now threatening. The same element, he says, were at the bottom of the flag incident. Should they ever attempt to rise in rebellion, he believed that the good American residents would be among the first to suppress them.

"THAT IS THE MAN."

DRAMATIC SCENE IN COURT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—A nervous little woman arose from the witness-stand before Coroner Leland and a jury at noon today, and pointed her finger full at John T. Riley, the man suspected of the murder of Otto M. Ekberg.

"Turn about and let me see your back," said the witness, in some impatience.

Riley glanced at his attorneys, and as they did not signal to stop him arose from his chair and wheeled about.

"That is him. I would know his back anywhere. That is the man who killed Ekberg."

RILEY FORMALLY ACCUSED.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—After the inquest the Coroner's jury formally charged Riley with the murder of Ekberg.

Phelan, a convention will meet in this city tomorrow afternoon to take action in favor of the reënactment of the Chinese exclusion law, which expires next spring. It is expected that fully 1500 delegates will be present, representing the legislative and executive departments of State, county and municipal governments, and commercial, industrial and social organizations.

The most prominent candidate for chairman of the convention is former Congressman Thomas J. Geary, the author of the present exclusion law.

CLARK'S EXPENDITURES.

REFUSES TO PUBLISH THEM.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—Mayor-elect George H. Clark has refused to make affidavits to his account of campaign expenditures, under the purity of elections law. This has caused considerable comment as all other candidates have sworn to the truth of their statements.

Mayor Clark makes this statement: "Acting under the advice of my attorney, Hiram W. Johnson, I did not make oath to my statement of expenses incurred in my late campaign. The Supreme Court ruled in the case of Bradley against Clark that the oath provided for, in the purity of elections law, is unconstitutional."

This morning the insane woman was bound hand and foot and taken to the Receiving Hospital.

FRESNO, Nov. 20.—A light rain commenced falling at 9:30 o'clock tonight. If it should develop into a heavy downpour, it will greatly benefit early sown grain and pasturage. Farmers on heavy lands are hoping for a soaking rain to aid them in their plowing.

Will Start the Plows.

SACRAMENTO, Nov. 20.—Rain has been falling steadily for thirty-six hours. In the vicinity of Sacramento the precipitation is .60 of an inch.

Reports from points along the river indicate a general downpour. Nothing has been injured by the rain. Grapes and beans have all been gathered. The present rain is what farmers like—a gentle, soaking drizzle that penetrates the soil without causing streams to overflow. This rain will start the plows in all parts of the Sacramento Valley.

MEADE COURT-MARTIAL.

Maj. Lauchheimer Relates the Drill Incident Which Caused Him to Prefer Charges Against the Accused.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The court-martial of Col. R. E. Meade was resumed today. Maj. Charles H. Lauchheimer of the United States Marine Corps, who preferred the charges against the accused officer, took the stand, and told of a visit to the marine barracks in Brooklyn on June 18, last, for the purpose of making an inspection, and stated that Col. Meade was on that occasion under the influence of liquor and unfit for duty.

There was a review of the battalion that day, and Col. Meade made mistakes while conducting the drill, and the witness curtailed the drill when he saw that Col. Meade's condition was such that it was useless to continue it.

Maj. Lauchheimer said when he returned to Washington he reported the poor drill, and the fact that Col. Meade was intoxicated.

CROSS-EXAMINATION.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—On cross-examination, Maj. Lauchheimer said he made a close inspection, but denied that Col. Meade became irritable because of his close inspection. Witness said that his relations with Col. Meade had been of a friendly nature, and he denied ever having told Capt. Kane that he disliked the colonel.

Fred Krist, the murderer, was put to death by electricity in the State prison at Auburn, N. Y., yesterday. Krist murdered his sweetheart, Katie Tobin, at Waverly, Tioga county, April 6 of last year.

KAISER WILLIAM PRAISES PRESIDENT.

AMBASSADOR WHITE DINES WITH HIM AT POTSDAM.

Emperor Shows Great Familiarity With the President's History and Characteristics and Expresses Admiration for American Energy and Enterprise.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

BERLIN, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Andrew D. White, the United States Ambassador to Germany, went to Potsdam last evening, for the usual ceremonious visit to the court, after an Ambassador's absence from the country. Mrs. White accompanied her husband, upon the special invitation of Emperor William. Both Mr. and Mrs. White remained at the palace for dinner. Among those present at the time were the Duke and Duchess of Mecklenburg, and Count Von Alvensleben, the German Ambassador to Russia.

Under President Roosevelt's instructions, Ambassador White communicated to the Emperor the President's messages of good will for His Majesty and for Germany, and laid stress on the President's hearty coöperation in everything tending toward peace, and strengthening of the friendly relations between the two countries.

The Emperor, in reply, referred in the most cordial terms to President Roosevelt, showing the greatest familiarity with the President's history and characteristics. His Majesty also dwelt upon the evidently happy influence of President Roosevelt's prestige and character on the political development of his country. His Majesty further referred to his great admiration for American energy and enterprise, as shown in various great undertakings.

The Empress, who was looking well and cheerful, referred in terms of great sympathy to the assassination of President McKinley.

DYING HARD.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Germany is not going to sit down quietly under the loss of its commerce, says the London correspondent of the Tribune. The merchants of the great urban districts of the Rhine have determined to leave no stone unturned to meet American competition. The first step they have decided upon is the canalization of the Mozelle and Saar, by which means they hope to lessen the cost of transportation to the coast. The scheme is to cost 70,000,000 marks, and will take a few years to complete.

CABLE TO HAWAII WILL SOON BE READY.

AGREEMENT CALLS FOR DELIVERY WITHIN SEVEN MONTHS.

Contract for Making the Cable Was not Given to an American Company Because There is None Engaged in the Business.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—George Ward, first vice-president of the Commercial Cable Company, said in an interview when asked why the contract for a Pacific cable had not been awarded to an American company:

"The Commercial Pacific Cable Company would have been very happy to give an American company its contracts, but there is no company in the United States that could, we felt, perform the work. They have not the machinery, and we could not afford to have the work of laying the cable take the form of an experiment. The Silverton Company has been established for over forty years, and has laid most of the deep-ocean cables throughout the world; so that it understands perfectly just how the work should be accomplished.

"The company has assured us that they will complete the cable, and have it here in seven months. Just as soon as the section extending to the Sandwich Islands is complete, and out of the way, we shall commence work on another section that will connect the Hawaiian Islands with the Philippines. Our station there will probably be on the Island of Luzon, and near or in Manila. We have not decided on that point yet, nor have we fixed our schedule of rates, but I may say, in speaking of rates, that we shall reduce them to a reasonable figure. We expect to have the work completed in about two or three years. The estimated cost of the undertaking is about $15,000,000, but we have capitalized our company at only $3,000,000, because we prefer to increase capitalization as we proceed rather than use such a large figure at the beginning."

Ward said it was expected that the new cable would allow of the transmission of messages in nearly four hours less time than required at present.

VALUE OF CHICAGO BONDS.

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Nov. 20.—In a report made today, the State Board of Equalization places the value of stocks and bonds of the Chicago City Railway Company, Chicago Telephone Company, People's Gas, Light and Coke Company, Chicago Edison Company and South Chicago City Railway Company at $116,882,515, as compared with $59,137,335 last year. This is a victory for the Chicago Teachers' Federation.

MR. NEEDHAM "GETS WISE."

Finds How President Feels About Chinese.

Also Learns Something About Reciprocity.

Gen. Corbin Declines to Be Police Commissioner of New York City.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Needham of California, who reached here a few days ago, had his first talk with the President today, and is much pleased over the result of it. The President told Mr. Needham that he not only is in favor of the reënactment of the Chinese exclusion law, but he strongly favors some additions to it which will make it more effective than it is at present. He also told Mr. Needham that he thought there were two or three weak spots in the bill that ought to be strengthened, and said he proposed to recommend in his message that these spots be strengthened and the old law reënacted. Mr. Needham thinks that, with this sort of backing from the White House, there is no question about what Congress will do as to Chinese exclusion.

Upon the question of reciprocity, Mr. Needham got the distinct impression from the President that nobody in California need worry that his business would be knocked sky-high by reciprocity during the next few years. The President realizes that, in reciprocity, he has a big question to handle, and he will not permit himself, by early or hasty action, to place any American industry in jeopardy.

CUBANS ARE COMING.

HINT OF ANNEXATION TALK.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The announcement is made that a delegation of Cuban business men is coming to Washington for the avowed purpose of securing freer trade relations with the United States, which means a reduction in duties on sugar and tobacco. But it is suspected here that these Cubans are coming on a slightly different errand, and that they are bent upon promoting in Washington a tendency toward Cuban annexation which would give them the free trade they desire.

However, the fact that the Cubans are coming and that they say they are coming for reciprocity in trade, is sufficient to start up more talk of letting Cuban sugar and tobacco into the United States at lower rates of duty. The clamor for lower rates on sugar is strong, being fostered by the American Sugar Refining Company, which has a knife in its teeth for beet-sugar growers. How a reciprocity treaty with Cuba is to be accomplished in the immediate future, even supposing that the United States were willing, is not plain. There is no government in Cuba with which a treaty can be made.

There will be no government there until next May, possibly until next June, so, until that time, there will be nobody with whom to make a Cuban treaty. And after next May or June, when the Cuban government gets into running order it would take a matter of months to make a treaty ready for the action of the Senate. So it now appears the Cuban reciprocity business is an immediate one.

STRENGTHEN EXCLUSION ACT.

THE PRESIDENT'S ATTITUDE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—The President, in his message to Congress, will not only recommend the reënactment of the Chinese Exclusion Act, but will go further and recommend that it be strengthened to increase its efficiency. The President gave this information today to Representative Needham of California. The President told other western callers today that he would call the attention of Congress in his message to the advisability of doing something to reclaim the great arid region of the West.

PREFERS HIS PRESENT PLACE.

GEN. CORBIN DECLINES OFFER.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Seth Lowe, Mayor-elect of the city of New York, has offered the place of Police Commissioner in New York, at a salary of $7500 per year, to Gen. H. C. Corbin, at present Adjutant-General of the United States. The salary of the place is the same as Gen. Corbin is receiving. When asked tonight whether he intended to accept the place, Gen. Corbin said he hardly thought he would.

"I find," he said, "there is less work to be done over there than there is here, and I want to keep where things are liveliest."

The offer from Mr. Low was made in perfect good faith, and both Mayor Low and the President are anxious to have Gen. Corbin accept. His reasons for not accepting are in some measure social, he having not long ago married Miss Patten of California, who desires to live in Washington.

One Delegate to Reciprocity Convention Draws a Hopeless Picture of Knit Goods Industry in Absence of Tariff—Interview the President.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20—At the forenoon session of the National Reciprocit Convention today A. B. Valentine of Bennington, Vt., president of the National Association of Knit Goods' Manufacturers, offered the following:

"Resolved, that in the opinion of this convention the treaty known as the French Reciprocity Convention should not be ratified."

Valentine succeeded in reading the resolution, asserting that he wished to state something for the information of the delegates, who broke into laughter as President Search replied that he was confident that Valentine did not understand that his action was a violation of the rules, resolutions not being in order. It was referred to a committee.

John G. Taylor, a Cincinnati tanner, was the first speaker of the day. He protested strongly against the attitude of the ultra-protectionists. He said that the existing evils might not be entirely ameliorated by either tariff revision or reciprocal trade conventions with other nations, but each remedy might work to the advantage of the American industrial operator if each were confined to its proper channels.

Titus S. Hurd of Little Falls, N. Y., declared that "reciprocity never did and never will help this country, and the interests demanding it, especially through the French Reciprocity Convention.

Owen S. Osborne of Philadelphia drew a hopeless picture of the American knit-goods industry in the absence of tariff protection. W. A. Baker of New York, representing the National Association of Agricultural Manufacturers, said that unless reciprocity were applied as a safety valve, a tariff explosion would follow that would create general ruin. He criticised some of the assertions and figures of Charles Hazen Clark, who immediately replied in detail to the criticisms.

The session adjourned at noon when the officers, and a committee of ten, proceeded to the White House, and called on President Roosevelt.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—Before the National Reciprocity Convention finished its work tonight several important resolutions, embodying the views of the convention on reciprocity and other matters, were made. They provide as follows:

Resolved, First—That this convention recommends to Congress the maintenance of the principle of protection for the home markets, and to open up by reciprocity opportunities for increased foreign trade by special modifications of the tariff in special cases, but only where it can be done without injury to any of our home interests of manufacturing, commerce or farming.

Second—That in order to ascertain the influence of any proposed treaty on our home interests this convention recommends to Congress the establishment of a reciprocity commission, which shall be charged with the duty of investigating the condition of any industry, and reporting the same to the Executive and to Congress for guidance in negotiating reciprocal trade agreements.

Resolved, First—This convention recommends to and requests of Congress a new department be created to be called "The Department of Commerce and Industry," the head of which shall be a member of the President's Cabinet.

Second—That a Reciprocity Commission be created as a bureau of this department.

A resolution was adopted requesting that the delegates have their home boards of trade adopt the resolutions passed by the convention, to be sent later to the Congress of the United States.

George J. Seabury of Philadelphia offered resolutions favoring subsidies to American shipping, and the construction of the Isthmian Canal, but the convention was not disposed to take up the question, and Mr. Seabury, in the interest of peace and harmony, withdrew the resolutions. This action met with the cordial acknowledgment of President Search, who said he felt that the meeting had accomplished the object for which it had gathered, and to have added anything to that would have been a mistake.

A motion was adopted relegating to the Committee on Resolutions all resolutions presented and not acted upon by the convention, the committee to determine the action to be taken upon them.

VISIT THE PRESIDENT.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—A representative committee from the National Reciprocity Convention today submitted to President Roosevelt the resolutions adopted by the convention. The President received them cordially. He told them in general terms that he had given much attention to the subject, and that he hoped his attitude would be satisfactory to them.

FOR A LINCOLN MEMORIAL.

BILL TO BE INTRODUCED.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Interest in the movement to erect a McKinley memorial in Washington is still further increased today by the announcement of Senator Cullom of Illinois, that he will introduce the bill as soon as Congress opens, providing for a Lincoln memorial in this city. He said today:

"I wish to see a memorial that is appropriate, and commensurate with the great life of Abraham Lincoln. I made up my mind more than a year ago, after talking with Senator Hoar, that the time had come to make a beginning, and that, at this session, I would undertake to do something in reference to it. Truth is, this action has been neglected, not intentionally, by many of us, but merely in order to wait until the proper time had arrived, so that when it is started it might be one of the greatest memorials that has ever been built in this or any other country.

"I want to have an appropriation made in order to get a design, so that we will approach the project in the right way, and secure in the end something that the country will feel is commensurate with the man we propose to honor. Such a memorial should cost probably $2,000,000 before it is completed. I think the country will gladly expend that amount to secure something that will be worthy of it. The great artists of the world should take an interest in the project, and I believe they will as soon as Congress indicates its intention to carry out the plan."

HEPBURN'S CANAL BILL.

WILL BE PUSHED FORWARD.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Representative Hepburn of Iowa, "Pete," as he is called by his admiring constituents, will introduce his bill providing for the construction of the Nicaraguan Canal promptly after the organization of the House, without waiting for the ratification of the canal treaty, which, he says, will have no effect one way or another upon the legislative status of the situation. His bill, which passed the House last session, carries an appropriation of about $150,000,000.

Hepburn is not a man who allows the grass to grow under his feet, and he will push his bill as rapidly as possible. He said today: "My information is, and it comes from a reliable source, that there is nothing in our agreement with Great Britain which will prevent the United States from building an isthmian canal exactly as we choose, and as provided by the House bill of last session. If the commission adheres to the reports heretofore made, no legislative change will be necessary. There doubtless will be some modifications, however, in the bill before introduced."

STRONG WITH FAITH IN THE LORD.

SO MISS STONE WRITES FROM HER PLACE OF CAPTIVITY.

Text of a Sweet Letter Written by the Missionary to a Bulgarian Friend, Tender Greetings for Those Who Pray for Her.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The Sofia correspondent of the Daily News has succeeded in obtaining copies of letters recently exchanged between Miss Ellen Stone, the captive American missionary, in her place of captivity, and a Bulgarian friend. Miss Stone's letter is as follows:

My dear little sister: As though the sun in all its splendor had shone on, despite the rain falling on us from thick clouds, so great is my joy at having received your letter this morning. What a blessing your dear words bring to me, and also to Mme. Tsilka, your countrywoman. To hear once more from the world, and especially words so sweet and encouraging, awakens new life in us. We continually repeat in our hearts your assurance that our dear ones have not forgotten us, and are praying and working tirelessly for our release.

When your letter came, having received no help from any direction, our burden had become heavy indeed. Now we are lifted up with new courage, and strong with faith in the Lord. I rely fully on the prayers and efforts of our friends, known and unknown.

Remember me to all; present my loving greetings to your mother and family, and inform my coworkers that I do not cease to pray for them. I have written the particulars of our condition to Mr. Dickinson, and you may ask him to see my letter. I only add here that we have preserved our general health despite all our trials. I rejoice in the permission which has just been accorded me to write to my dearest ones in America.

This will be the second letter which I have been permitted to write, besides those to three persons in regard to our liberation. I hardly hoped to hear that my mother was yet alive. If you can, write her a word of comfort, and also my brothers; God bless you. Mme. Tsilka joins in grateful and affectionate remembrances.

Lovingly, ELLEN M. STONE.

BULGARIA'S ATTITUDE.

INSINUATIONS RESENTED.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SOFIA, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] The Foreign Office here resents the insinuations published abroad that the government is acting in bad faith in the matter of effecting the release of Miss Stone, and, explaining its attitude toward Dickinson, the diplomatic agent here of the United States, affirms its entire readiness to take any action suggested by him.

The Foreign Office also says, acting upon the suggestion of Dickinson, it caused the village of Gratchowo to be surrounded and searched a fortnight ago, but the brigands were not there. It also says that Dickinson's later information to the effect that the bandits were concealed in a defile of the Belleritza Mountains could not be acted upon by it, as an inquiry showed the place in question to be within Turkish territory.

The latest information received here sets forth that the brigands are holding out for a higher figure of ransom, and it is asserted that they are able to keep their captives as long as this may be necessary.

NEW GRAND VIZIER.

HARD TASK BEFORE HIM.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Constantinople correspondent of the London Times and New York Times says Said Pasha began his duties as Grand Vizier Tuesday. His appointment is regarded with favor by all the diplomats except those of Russia. All recognize the enormous difficulty of his task, the whole administration being disorganized, and the provinces being in a state of social disintegration.

ULTIMATUM TO BRIGANDS.

NEWSPAPER REPORTS ONE.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

SOFIA, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Dickinson, according to Vezerna Posta, whose editor was a member of the former Macedonian Committee, has sent an ultimatum to the brigands, giving them six days to accept a specified sum as the ransom for Miss Stone. If this amount is not accepted within the time mentioned, Dickinson's offer will be withdrawn.

DICKINSON'S OFFER.

SUM AT HIS DISPOSAL.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 21.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Dickinson's ultimatum to the brigands, according to a dispatch from Sofia, to the Daily Telegraph, specifies £12,000.

COLLISION.

three exceptions and their injuries are slight.

"We took the four bodies that were taken from the wreck to Needles, where they were left awaiting orders for burial.

"The loss to the company will be very heavy. I do not know just how much."

DEAD FIREMAN CASE.

W. L. Case, one of the dead firemen, was a son of J. H. Case and a nephew of Sam J. Chappel of this city. Young Case, when not on the road, lived with his parents at No. 628 East Twelfth street. He was 25 years old and had worked three years in the Santa Fé yards in this city, and for the last two years was firing an engine.

The father and uncle of the unfortunate young man were among those at La Grande depot last night waiting for news. When they pressed Claim Agent Franklin for definite information as to the fate of their relative, Mr. Franklin said:

"The poor fellow was either incinerated under his engine, or else he jumped and cut away across the prairie, for he has not been seen since."

"He would never do that," said the sorrowful father, as he turned away to hide his grief.

"No, I don't believe he was that kind of a man," said the claim agent.

A younger brother of Fireman Case works in the yards at Barstow. He went to the scene of the wreck today to recover his brother's body, but telegraphed from Needles at 8 o'clock last evening that no trace of it could be found.

INTERVIEW WITH PASSENGERS.

B. R. Woodworth, a traveling man of Rockland, Cal., and Dr. Walter Woodman of Cambridge, Mass., occupied a stateroom in the car next to the last one of train No. 3. When the crash came their car was derailed and overturned. Mr. Woodworth describes his experience as follows: "We were awakened by the collision and knocked from our berths. Immediately after the crash, the car which we were in took fire. In order to save ourselves we had to break open a window and crawl through the opening. We were in our night clothes and cut our feet in walking over the broken glass which surrounded the car. Fire burned the car to ashes, leaving only the trucks and wheels."

This account is verified by Dr. Woodman. Both he and Woodworth are guests at the Hollenbeck Hotel.

Dr. James P. Booth of Needles was a passenger on the train which arrived here this morning. He, with Dr. Freeman and Dr. Rees of Needles, went to the scene of the wreck immediately on being notified. They arrived there five hours after the collision and temporarily dressed the wounds and injuries of the victims.

"It was a frightful wreck," said Dr. Booth, "and the casualities will number more than seven. Conductor Higgins is terribly burned and scalded. In my opinion he is dying. I believe he cannot live more than a few hours." Dr. Booth is at the Nadeau.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Harrison of Manson, Iowa, who registered at the Hollenbeck Hotel this morning, had a narrow escape from death on the eastbound train. They were asleep in the observation car, the rear one of train No. 3, when the collision occurred. Mr. Harrison said: "We were thrown from our berths by the shock and hurriedly left the car. The passengers were in a panic, and all rushed out of the cars immediately after the crash. Some of the uninjured ones fainted, and as the glare of the burning cars lit up the scene, the passengers in their night robes, running up and down the track, made a ghastly appearance. This, added to the screams of the injured ones, sent chills through me. It was a horrible catastrophe."

J. B. Lanfield of Binghamton, N. Y., tells of the wonderful escape of a cook who was asleep in the composite car next to the engine of train No. 3. He said: "I do not know the man's name, but his escape from death was miraculous. He was asleep in an upper berth of the forward car when the engines collided. The roof of that car was split open directly above his head, and he was pitched through the opening. After being hurled forty feet through the air, he struck on his back and was uninjured."

Lanfield was in the next to the rear car of train No. 3. He says three of the bodies were burned. He also tells of the accident as it effected Engineer J. R. Williams of train No. 3, who is one of the injured ones. Williams was thrown from his cab, a distance of twenty feet, and, though somewhat cut and bruised, is not severely hurt.

Otto Barse, chief cook of train No. 3, who is among the injured, is also expected to die, according to some of the passengers who arrived here this morning. His chest was crushed. He and Conductor Higgins are among the injured ones brought to Los Angeles.

WELLS PINNED IN.

W. A. Wells, baggageman and barber in charge of the composite car of train No. 4, had a narrow escape from being burned to death in his berth, an upper one in the forward part of his car, which was next to the engine. He tells of it as follows:

"When I woke up, the tender of the engine of our train was lying alongside of my bed. I was pinned in by a broken partition, which had been between the baggage-room and the barber shop. It was tight against my bed, the jagged edges close to me. I could see the light of the fire which had already started in the car. I braced my back against the side of the car and my feet against the broken partition. I pried it far enough from the edge of the berth to allow me to crawl to the lower bed, and there I broke a window and escaped. My bed was on fire when I left the car. My money, watch and all my clothing except my trousers, I left inside.

"When I got outside the passengers were dressing by the light of the fire which was destroying the cars. The injured ones were crying for help. One waiter was pinned down under a car by a heavy beam which lay across his shoulders. He cried for help. Some of the trainman tried to drag him from beneath the wreck, but the encroaching flames drove them away. The waiter writhed as the flames reached one of his arms, and he burned to death, while his fellows were powerless to aid him.

"When I heard four waiters in my car screaming, I thought I would go back and help get them out. I went into the car. Steam, hot water and fire blinded me, and I could not move about in my bare feet without cutting them. I founr my shoes and after putting them on, was starting to help the waiters, when I found they had escaped."

Wells says that Higgins, the injured conductor, had several sinking spells while on the way to Los Angeles from San Bernardino.

THE MAILS.

DESTROYED IN THE WRECK.

When the two Santa Fé limited trains crashed together and took fire at Franconia, yesterday morning, at least 30,000 letters mailed in this city for the East the night before were totally destroyed. When the fated No. 4 left here at 5:45 o'clock Tuesday evening, it bore from Southern California points about seventeen pouches of letters, and between 300 and 400 sacks of papers and packages. Seven of the former were from Los Angeles, and about eighty of the latter.

The Limited train carries the heaviest mail for the East that leaves here, and many of the letters which it takes represent large value. The banks and large business houses all rush and scurry in the afternoon to get their important correspondence, drafts and orders off on this fast train. This class of correspondence is crowded into the postoffice every day at the last moment to catch the limited. Yesterday morning it all went up in smoke, with an equal amount which was bound this way. It will cause great work and confusion for some time. All money orders lost will have to be proved and duplicated in Washington after long delay.

Some of the eastern mail, however, missed the wreck. Letters mailed before 4:30 o'clock p.m., addressed to points in Minnesota, Iowa, North and South Dakota, are dispatched on the Owl, via the northern route. After this hour they go by the Santa Fé.

Strange to say, there were no regular mail cars on either train at the time of the wreck. When No. 4 leaves here at 5:45 o'clock p.m., it carries a mail car. During the passage to Barstow the mail is sorted and all transfered to the baggage car, to go straight through, and the mail car is dropped. The regular overand train which leaves this city at 7:30 p.m. picks up the car at Barstow and carries it on. The registered mail, however, is never transfered, because it must constantly be in the personal care of the mail clerk, who stays with his car. It was the same with No. 3, west-bound. It does not pick up the mail car for this city until Needles is reached, so no registered mail was lost.

Speaking of the cause of the wreck, a man in this city who has been a train master on the Santa Fé and until recently ran one of the Limited trains from Los Angeles as conductor, said yesterday: "To those who do not understand railroading, it seems inconceivable that a conductor or engineer can overlook an order that involves his life and many others; but a railroad man can understand how it happens. He knows that any day the very best engineer or conductor may forget for a moment—may 'overlook his hand,' as we call it—and then the disaster comes. The No. 4 crew undoubtedly 'overlooked their hand.' It is very easy to slip up on such things. Or it may lie with the train dispatcher; he is only human, and liable to the same mistakes. I knew personally all the men killed in the accident, and the engineers and conductors were as good and careful employes as the road possessed."

Gardner and Carter to Get Together.

Jim McDonald Will Referee Fight.

Amateur Union Committees Appointed—Mudlarks in Rain at Oakland.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 20.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] It was definitely settled today that George Gardner and "Kid" Carter will meet in the ring in this city, December 20, under the auspices of the San Francisco Athletic Club.

A meeting was held at noon. All of the parties interested were present. Gardner and Alex Greggains did most of the talking with Carter and Ed Wilson, and it took considerable time before they came to a compromise on the weight question. It was finally agreed that the men should weigh in at 165 pounds at 3 o'clock p.m., and give or take one pound.

The referee question was settled quickly. Jack Welch declined the place on account of the criticism that Gardner's eastern friend, Pierce, had made on Welch's decision in the fight between Gardner and Walcott. Jim McDonald was finally accepted, and then the articles were prepared. While they were being got ready, Wilson and Greggains had a little controversy about the merits of the men, and the result was a $1000 side bet, each man putting up $500.

The fight is expected to prove popular, as both pugilists are well liked here on account of the gameness of Gardner and the cleverness of the other.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—The contest between union and non-union men at the Allis-Chalmers machine shop in this city, where a strike has been in progress for several months, resulted tonight in the killing of a union man. The dead man is supposed to be George Trapp; his slayer was Andrew Burkhauser, who recently came here from Baltimore.

Trapp attacked Burkhauser and felled him to the ground with a piece of gas pipe. While he lay on the ground Burkhauser drew a revolver and fired at Trapp, the bullet striking him in the left eye. Death resulted in a short time. Burkhauser was arrested.

HUNDRED THOUSAND LOSS BY FLAMES.

Western Wholesale Drug Company on South Main Street Burned Out Early This Morning.

THE most serious fire of the year occurred at 12:30 o'clock this morning, completely destroying the large storerooms of the Western Wholesale Drug Company, Nos. 254-258 South Main street, gutting the building and burning out a number of offices and the old G.A.R. Hall, formerly Elks' Hall. The loss to the drug company is estimated by H. M. Sale, its president, at nearly or quite $100,000, and the building was damaged between $5000 and $10,000. These estimates are probably higher than the actual loss, but exact figures cannot be obtained until an examination of the ruins is made today.

The cause of the fire is not known. A citizen passing the place saw the glare of the flames in the rear of the drug house and shouted "fire." The firemen arrived there in less than two minutes, and found the flames pouring through the roof of the rear portion of the building. That part was formerly the old O. K. Livery Stables, and was dry as tinder. New material had been placed over the old structure, leaving many places through which the fire found ready access to the most inflammable material. It is believed that the fire originated in that portion of the drug house in which there was a quantity of turpentine stored, and that it was caused by spontaneous combustion. There was no fire of any description about the store when it was closed at the end of the day's business, and since the place was recently wired for electricity it is not considered probable that the cause was an electric spark. Whatever the cause it started the blaze in a place where the firemen had difficult work to reach it, and by the time the first stream of water was turned on, the flames had spread through the rear structure and were rapidly eating their way toward the front.

DANGEROUS FIGHTING.

The Chief saw as soon as he reached the scene that he had to deal with the largest fire that has occurred since he has held his position, and he at once ordered the second alarm sounded. The first alarm had brought engines Nos. 3, 4, 5 and 9, and trucks A and B and at the second alarm engines Nos. 4 and 10, truck D and hose companies Nos. 2 and 5 responded. There was work for all of them, for in spite of a half score of streams the flames continued to spread. The firemen tried to cut them off so as to prevent their reaching the front of the building, but the fire got to the framework between the ceiling of the upper floor and the roof, and as it could not be reached there it was not long until the whole top of the building was ablaze.

The work of the firemen was of a most dangerous character, for there was constant danger of explosions, and the fumes from the burning drugs drove them away from their work time after time. Several were rendered almost unconscious, but when one dropped a nozzle another took his place, and those affected by the smoke and fumes returned to work as soon as they could get a breath of fresh air, and thus revive themselves.

FIREMEN'S CLOSE CALL.

Two of the firemen narrowly escaped being crushed under a falling section of the roof near where the fire started. A line of hose had been taken through the drug house to the part of the building formerly used as a livery stable, and handling the nozzle were Driver Dunn of the No. 4 engine company and V. McGilbray who drives the Chief's buggy. They were working on the very heart of the fire and were doing good work, but they did not notice that the flames had spread to the roof above them and were burning away its supports. Without warning a section of the ceiling crashed down upon the men. They saw it coming and had time to drop before it struck them. This probably saved their lives for they were covered with burning wood and wet plastering. With great difficulty they managed to crawl out from under the mass and dragged their stream with them. For a few minutes they were dazed, but as soon as they reached the open air they revived and immediately returned to work.

PATROLMEN SMOKED.

Patrolmen Pat Murray and Al McLain narrowly escaped suffocation. On the second floor of the building were the offices of Dr. Taylor and it was reported to the officers that the doctor was still in his office. They at once ran up the stairs to get him out of the building. They ran through the dense smoke to his rooms, only to find that he had left, taking most of his valuables with him. The officers turned to leave the place, but the smoke was so dense that they had difficulty in finding the stairway. There was no light in the hall, and when they reached the stairs they almost fell to the floor below. They remained on duty throughout the fire, however. No one else was injured.

OTHER BUILDINGS MENACED.

For the first half hour after the discovery of the fire it was thought that the flames would spread to other buildings. The occupants of the Eureka Hotel, which adjoins the burned building on the north, began moving out their effects, but they need not have done so, for the firemen succeeded in confining the fire to the one building, although that was almost ruined. Adjoining the drug house is the store of J. N. Jeager, dealers in barbers' and butchers' supplies. The fire did not reach this store, but most of the stock was damaged by water. An hour after the first alarm was sounded the fire was under control, and an hour later only two or three companies were working on the ruins. One engine company remained there during the night.

PLACE WAS NEW.

The Western Wholesale Drug Company opened the store there only a short time ago. H. M. Sale is president of the company; L. D. Sale, vice-president, and L. Schiff, secretary. The company is capitalized for $250,000, and the total value of the stock is not less than $200,000, all of the capital stock having been paid in and most of it being invested in the business. In the rear of the burned building is a large warehouse fronting on Los Angeles street, in which a large part of the stock is stored. This the fire did not reach. The building caught fire several times, but the firemen succeeded in extinguishing the flames before they had secured any headway. The most valuable portion of the drug stock was in the main building, and as the stock was of such a character that it would be ruined by contact with water, the loss is believed to have been almost total in that part of the establishment.

H. M. Sale said that the loss to his company would approximate $100,000, but added that that estimate might be high. He could not, of course, say what portion of the stock would be of any value until he had had an opportunity of inspecting the place, but if the loss were total in the main building it would exceed the amount given. He said that there was insurance to about 75 per cent. of the loss. All of the books and papers of the company were saved; in fact, the fire did not reach the main offices, although that portion of the building was deluged with tons of water poured in to the place by a dozen or more streams.

END OF THE HALL.

The hall on the second floor of the building was used by different posts of the G.A.R. and other organizations, but whether the papers of these orders were kept there could not be learned this morning. If they were they were destroyed, for the hall was completely burned out. E. Nittinger had a real-estate office in the second floor of the building, but what it contained could not be learned. There were several other rooms on the second floor, but most of them were vacant.

The building was formerly the property of Councilman George McLain, but a mortgage for $35,000 on it in favor of the Title Insurance and Trust Company was foreclosed some time ago. The time for its redemption has not yet expired and it may be redeemed. Mr. McLain had an office in the building, but what it contained could not be learned this morning.

DOWNEY TRAGEDY DARK IN MYSTERY.

Scarcely a Ray of Light on the Horrible Wilcox Murder—Money Probably the Motive.

SO DARK is the mystery surrounding the murder of the Wilcox family at Downey that even the motive has not as yet come to light.

Select any possible theory of the crime that you can think of and logic will show you that you must be on the wrong track.

Most of the many detectives working on the case have veered around to the theory of robbery, and their contention is supported by the fact that a safe was cracked in Downey earlier in the same week as the murder. It is also known that the criminal element knew of Wilcox's habit of keeping his money hoarded away.

The autopsy held yesterday threw considerable new light on the manner of the killing, and increases the proof of brutal ferocity upon which the people who believe that the murder was the work of a lunatic hang their contentions.

More evidence has also been brought out to show that the crime was committed Saturday night, instead of Sunday morning.

LATE DEVELOPMENTS AT SCENE OF CRIME.

KILLING ALMOST CERTAINLY LAST SATURDAY NIGHT.

Pistol Shots and Woman's Screams Heard That Evening by John T. Foster—Bud Lewis's Father and Mother Tell of His Movements.

An important fact, which was called to the attention of the detectives yesterday, and one which may have some connection with the murder, is that of the attempted robbery of the Downey postoffice last Thursday night, and efforts have been increased to apprehend the would-be robbers on the theory that they, in the knowledge that Wilcox made a practice of carrying large sums of money on his person, killed him and his family.

Some time in the late hours of Thursday night, entrance to the postoffice was effected by forcing the bolt on the front door. The government safe was assailed with nitro-glycerine and some of the outer sheeting was blown off, but the thieves failed to gain access to the cash box, which contained but 25 cents. The detonation of the explosive was muffled with blankets, and, while the sound was heard by a few sleepy persons, they attributed it to the kicking of a horse in a nearby livery stable. It has been determined almost to a certainty that the murder of the Wilcox family occurred Saturday evening, less than forty-eight hours after the attempted robbery of the postoffice, and the officers think the same persons may be guilty of both jobs.

DOWNEY ASTIR.

The news of the terrible tragedy had aroused the citizens of Downey, as much as the lethargic inhabitants of a sleepy little hamlet can be aroused, and it was late Tuesday night—late for Downey—before the lights in the grocery store were extinguished, and it was at least 10 o'clock before the befuddled brain of the town-toper impelled him to leave his chair in the corner saloon and attempt to dig his way through the fog to his home. The Wilcox murder was the last topic of discussion that night, and it was the first thing that was spoken of yesterday morning, when the citizens began to gather at their accustomed sidewalk haunts and places of business. Ranchers with long beards and smoothly-shaven upper lips drove in from miles around to have an early word with Constable Henry Roemer, each in turn drawing that officer to a sequestered nook and whispering to him in awesome accents some theory as to the perpetrators of the murder, or telling him of the suspicious actions of some person they had seen a few hundred feet or several miles from the Wilcox home. Some of these persons were seen several days before or a day or two after the murder, and each message-bearer was certain that the person he had seen must have had some connection with the crime.

The sifting of these clews and his work on other matters pertaining to the case kept the constable on a fast trot all day, and it was late last night before he returned to his office, having visited during the day the town of Norwalk and other surrounding places, and stopped at many ranch-houses in search of facts bearing on the case.

The Sheriff was in Downey for a short time yesterday, in conference with the local officer, and running down numerous clews. Special detectives from the Gard agency also were in Downey. The Sheriff and constable said that every clew they had worked on had developed no solution of the mystery which surrounds the murder.

"DUTCH" OUT OF IT.

Constable Roemer satisfied himself yesterday that "Dutch" Codwell had nothing to do with the murder. Codwell, who is said to be of unsound mind, approached Thomas Sparks, a hunter, Sunday morning and asked for some shells for a shotgun, saying he wished to "kill a man." It developed that Codwell had difficulty Saturday with a young man named Tom Monroe of Carmenita, and in his unbalanced mental condition he harbored a homicidal mania which was to be vented on Monroe.

KILLED SATURDAY NIGHT.

John T. Foster, who lives with his family on the ranch adjoining the Wilcox property, furnished important information yesterday which fixes almost to a certainty the time of the killing. Foster was not called as a witness at the inquest Tuesday, although his wife said she heard shots Sunday morning, but he said yesterday that he heard shots Saturday night, the sound of which came from the Wilcox residence.

Foster says he was cleaning milk cans at 6 o'clock Saturday evening when he heard three loud reports in rapid succession. His momentary thought was that the Wilcoxes were opening boxes, and this thought, coupled with the fact that Wilcox and his wife had moved into their house but a few days before, seemed to assure him that such was the case.

HEARD WOMAN'S SCREAM.

Immediately following the three rapid reports, however, he heard what he now is sure was a woman's scream, coming immediately after which were three or four more shots, with a distinct pause between each.

Between the first three shots and the others, Foster stepped a few feet to the south of his pump in order that he might hear more plainly. Though he felt sure that something was not right at the Wilcox house, which is but a few hundred feet from his own, he did not go over to investigate, and the matter evidently slipped his mind until the news of the murder came out. Foster says his relations with Wilcox were friendly, and that Wilcox had called at the Foster home but a few days before.

Another fact which seems to establish Saturday evening as the time of the murder was gleaned from Foster yesterday, when he told of the visit to his house Sunday morning of an old man named Hall, who lives alone near the creamery in Downey.

As he and his wife were starting to church Sunday morning at 9 o'clock Foster says Hall met them in the road and asked them if he knew the whereabouts of the Wilcox family. Hall was in a buggy, and said he had called early that morning to keep an appointment with Wilcox, from whom he expected to buy some fruit.

"I knocked on the door and waited around the yard a long time," said Hall, "and I haven't seen one of the family."

Foster and his wife could not enlighten him; Hall drove home and the Fosters went to church.

About 11 o'clock Monday morning Hall again appeared at the Foster ranch and asked if he could purchase a lunch. He said he had walked out from Downey to see Wilcox about the fruit deal, but, as on Sunday morning, he had been unable to get any response to his knocks on the door, and after waiting a reasonable time, he abandoned his quest. Hall remarked at that time that Wilcox's horse was standing tied in the barn, just as he had seen it Sunday morning, and that the animal whinnied and appeared to be hungry. Still the shots and the woman's scream and the long-continued non-appearance of the Wilcox family seemed to have no connection in the mind of Foster.

BLOODY KNIFE FOUND.

Constable Roemer has in his possession a pocketknife which was found on the dining-table at the scene of carnage. The blade of the knife is encrusted with what appears to be blood, but its connection with the murder is a matter of surmise only. The lamp on the table, which at first was reported to be empty, as though it had been left burning all night and had burned out, was found by Roemer yesterday to be three-quarters full of oil. In the house were found two gold watches and Mrs. Wilcox's purse, which contained about $5.

LEWIS'S MOVEMENTS.

Bud Lewis stayed Tuesday night at the residence of his aged father and mother, which is on a ranch about two miles east of Downey and not far from a bridge which crosses the San Gabriel River. Early yesterday morning the mother, father and son drove to Los Angeles, in expectation of attending the funeral of the murdered family. They were accompanied by Alfred Schmidt, the thirteen-year-old son of Bud Lewis's sister, now dead. Arriving at Los Angeles, the family learned that the funeral would not take place until today. The old mother and father accordingly returned to Downey, leaving Bud to return later in the day. While the little boy went to the home of his father, in the western outskirts of Los Angeles.

When seen yesterday afternoon at their ranch home by a Times reporter, the old folks talked very willingly as to their son's movements after he left jail Saturday morning, and were exceedingly anxious that the stigma of suspicion be raised from him.

"Bud never had any connection with that awful crime," said Lewis. "If I thought for one minute that he was a murderer I should be the first to ask that he pay the penalty with his life. But I know positively every movement made by him from the time he was released from the custody of the court until the present."

Then the old man, with his wife at his side, gave in a straightforward manner the following account of Bud's movements:

FATHER'S ACCOUNT.

"Friday night," he said, "I drove to Los Angeles in order to be on hand Saturday morning, when Bud was to appear in the Superior Court to answer to a charge of embezzlement, on which charge he had been confined in the County Jail since the latter part of August. I stayed Friday night at the home of a friend, George Leach, on Avenue 20, East Los Angeles. About 10 o'clock Saturday morning I went to court, where I found my grandson Bert, who is Bud's son. Bud's case was dismissed shortly after court opened, and the three of us left the Courthouse. Bert went with his father and purchased for him a suit of clothes to replace those which he had worn in prison, and about 2 o'clock, I think, I met Bud at the corner of Spring and Temple streets and we went on an East Main-street car to Mr. Leach's house. About 4 o'clock that afternoon we started in my buggy for Downey, reaching home just before 6 o'clock. As we drove into the yard Bud shouted loudly to let his mother know he was a free man, and my grandson Alfred shouted a response. Together they made quite a noise; so much so as to bring a neighbor rushing into the yard to see what it was all about."

As Lewis told of the homecoming of his son tears glistened in the eyes of the old mother to whom that homecoming seemed as dear as does the return of any prodigal to the maternal roof, and at this point she took up the narrative.

MOTHER WAS SO GLAD.

"I was so glad to have my boy home again," she said, "and we had such a happy reunion at the supper table. Immediately after the meal Bud lay down on his old bed right near the fireplace. His blood had grown thin through confinement and he suffered from the cold. Several times during the night I heard him coughing. He was not outside the house from the time he arrived with his father.

"Sunday morning he went to the postoffice about 9 o'clock, accompanied by his young nephew, and they returned together shortly afterward. Bud was home all day, and in the evening he and Alfred walked down to the bridge, but a short distance from the house. He spent the night at our house, not being out of our sight for half an hour."

Monday morning early, according to Lewis, he and Bud started to Redondo, where the old man owns land. They passed the Wilcox place on their way, but noticed no one about the yard. Instead of going to Redondo, however, they went to Long Beach, where they stayed a short time, then turned for home. Again they passed the Wilcox home, this time about 7 o'clock in the evening. No light was visible, but Bud remarked, "They're probably in the kitchen."

That night was spent by Bud at his father's house, and Tuesday morning he and his father drove to Los Angeles on business, and it was while in this city that the news was given to Bud that his former wife and her husband and child had been murdered. They returned at once to Downey, and, instead of going the usual way around the business center, the horse was turned at Bud's request and they drove directly through town, Bud explaining to his father that the officers might be looking for him, and he wished to show them he was not trying to keep out of their way.

In speaking of a visit which she and her husband had made at the Wilcox home on the Thursday prior to the murder, old Mrs. Lewis said that Mrs. Wilcox spoke of some trouble which had occurred that morning between Wilcox and herself. In this conversation Mrs. Wilcox is said to have remarked, "I got along twice as well with Bud as I do with Wilcox."

THE AUTOPSY.

MANY WOUNDS FOUND.

Dr. J. F. T. Jenkins held an autopsy yesterday on the bodies of the murdered family. The detailed result will be a surprise, as it changes various ideas that were at first held, especially as to the manner of the killing of the child.

Wounds found on the body of Abram Paul Wilcox:

Triangular-shaped wound in the head, evidently made by a blunt instrument, and crushing in the skull.

Wound from blunt instrument above and to the rear of right ear.

Aperture in the abdomen, letting out the intestines; not determined whether caused by the fire in the clothes or cut with a knife.

In addition to these wounds the head was badly battered.

Wounds found on the body of Paul Lasher Wilcox, the murdered infant:

Gunshot wound three inches back of the left ear.

Gunshot wound in the neck under the chin.

Wound from a blunt instrument a little to the left of the medium line of the head, crushing in the skull so that the brain could be seen.

Many small wounds, either cuts or bruises.

Wounds found on the body of Mrs. Wilcox:

Gunshot wound entering an inch from the left eye, and coming out an inch and a half to the right and below the edge of the right eye.

Many small wounds, not possible to say if slashes with a knife or hits with a blunt instrument.

WOMAN SHOT FIRST.

Dr. Jenkins, the autopsy physician, said of his investigations:

"My examination of the bodies would lead me to believe that the woman was shot first.

"She must have been standing at the cook stove when the murderer fired a shot that went through her body. It entered at the side and to the back, as though he had come straight over from the door. He held the pistol so close to her that the powder set her clothes on fire. She was shot three times, and horribly pounded up about the face and head with some blunt instrument, probably the butt of a revolver.

"I think that the murderer must have then turned on the husband, who had doubtless come to the defense of his wife.

"Wilcox fought for his life. He was almost beaten to pieces. There were four scalp wounds on the right side of his head. He was shot through the thigh with the pistol held close enough to set his clothing on fire. I am unable to tell, on account of the state of decomposition in which the body was found, whether the gaping hole in the abdomen was caused by the slash of a knife or by the fire.

"I believe that the child was killed last. It was at first supposed that he was shot at long range. My examination of the body shows that this was not the fact. The child was shot—once at least—at close range. The bullet wound in the throat is burned with powder. The child was beaten like the rest with a blunt instrument. His skull was crushed completely in.

"My judgment from the character of the wounds is that the same instrument was used to inflict all the contusions, and I believe that one man did the killing."

FUNERAL TODAY.

The funeral of the murdered Wilcox family will be held at Booth & Boyle-son's undertaking rooms at 2 o'clock today. The remains will be interred at Evergreen Cemetery. Several Downey people are coming up for the ceremony, including Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Lewis, the father and mother of Bud Lewis.

EXPERT OPINION.

ROBBERY OR JEALOUSY.

Earl Rogers, Esq., who has made a keen study of practical criminology in connection with his career as a criminal lawyer, believes that the crime was committed for robbery. He said yesterday in an interview:

"So few data from which to reason that my opinion amounts to very little.

"If I were to go after the murderer, I should look for the motive, because there is no personal description to go by.

"In this case, two motives are apparent on the surface.

"First, cupidity.

"Second, malice.

"It must be one or the other.

"If the facts exclude the possibility of the man whose jealousy has been mentioned, from consideration, I should seek for some tramps or hobos whose presence at the scene of the crime may have been due to a desire for food.

"A controversy may have arisen between the tramps and the woman; the husband may have intervened and the crime may have been perpetrated without any previously existing motive.

"I should run down the facts concerning every person who had any apparent motive for the crime, and thereafter seek among the hobos for a clew.

"The murder has the indications which are to be found surrounding most hobo murders."

Maj. George Gard, whose long experience as a peace officer and detective have made him a high authority on criminology, is in San Francisco, and will not be home before Friday. Members of his detective agency hesitate to express an opinion as to the motive of the crime in the absence of their chief. It was stated at the agency yesterday, however, that three of Gard's men are working on the case, each holding a different theory. The office man inclined to the robbery theory as the correct one, inasmuch as Wilcox was supposed to have considerable money and not a dollar was found in the house after the tragedy was discovered.

John P. Elms, proprietor of the Elms Detective Agency, thought jealousy was the motive. Wilcox was a warm personal friend of his, and Elms does not believe that the murdered man had enough money to make robbery an object. Elms says Wilcox was a very honorable man, and was strongly attached to his child. His domestic relations, however, in Elms's opinion, were not altogether harmonious. Still, Elms does not believe that Wilcox himself committed the awful crime. He opines that some jealous fiend was the author of the tragedy, but is not willing to venture a guess as to the identity of the guilty wretch. Elms is not working on the case.

Police Officer H. C. Walker is of the opinion that the triple murder was committed by a crazy person.

Gen. Johnstone Jones, Assistant District Attorney, judges by the ferocity of the crime that some other motive than a purely mercenary one prompted the awful deed. Unless Bud Lewis can establish an unimpeachable alibi, Gen. Jones thinks the crime might with reason be laid at his door. Lewis's bad reputation, coupled with the fact that he was obliged to remain in jail until last Saturday because none of his relatives would go his bail for even so small a sum as $200, in the opinion of the Assistant District Attorney, give color to the theory that Lewis might be the guilty person. The argument in favor of this theory is that Lewis, during his incarceration, had time to brood over his fall from grace, and that he may have summoned up enough courage to revenge himself on his former wife and the man who had succeeded him as her husband. Lewis, however, is reputed to be physically lacking in courage, and it is seriously questioned whether he could have nerved himself for such a struggle as seems to have taken place, and whether he could have emerged from the slaughter without betraying some sign of having been the author of the gory deed. The only way, in the opinion of many of the officials who have given serious thought to the case, for Lewis to clear himself of suspicion is to make his alibi absolute.

OFFICERS WORK ON THREE THEORIES.

CITY TOUGHS ALL KNEW THAT WILCOX HAD MONEY.

Was the Dread Deed Done Out of Revenge or Jealousy, Hope of Inheritance, for Robbery, or to Satisfy a Fiendish Maniac?

It is claimed that the detectives got smell of a clew yesterday.

The case is being worked on the following theories:

A—That the murder was committed either out of revenge or jealousy, or in the hope of inheriting property by the death of the entire Wilcox family.

B—That the murder was committed by criminals or tramps who knew that Wilcox had money in the house.

C—That it was the act of a maniac.

Most of the detectives believe in the second theory—that it was the work of criminals or tramps.

For ten years Wilcox kept a cigar stand on the toughest corner south of San Francisco. Tramps and criminals make the crossing of First and Los Angeles streets a "hang out." They have nothing better to do than to find out things. That's part of their trade. Men working around cigar stands who had nothing particular to do with Wilcox at the time are able to give exact information as to how Wilcox kept his money, so he probably made no secret of the fact that he never went to banks.

From the time of the imposing of the war tax requiring the affixing of stamps to bank checks, Wilcox had never deposited any money.

It was a matter of common knowledge on the "corner" that Wilcox sold out his stand, and, because of poor health, was going to ranching. He got $925 for the property.

The "corner" gang, by the fact of his purchasing a horse and wagon, knew that he had money to spend about that time, even if the exact price was not known.

Wilcox moved out to the ranch with his family a week ago Saturday. At that time he is supposed to have had about $300 on his person. At the time of the sale of the cigar stand, he was somewhat in debt, and requested that the fact of the sale be not made public until he had gone around and squared with his creditors, which he did straightway.

DOWNEY SAFE-CRACKING.

A week ago today, the Downey postoffice was broken into and the safe was cracked. The robbers got only 25 cents for their trouble. They must have been professional thieves or they would not have ventured into safe-cracking. They would naturally be unwilling to return to town empty-handed—there was Wilcox and his money. They knew about him from the "corner." There probably never was a "gun" around here who did not go to the "corner."

One of the chief objections to this theory is that there would have been more than one man at the safe-cracking, whereas it is reasonably certain that only one did the murder.

It wouldn't be the first time that cowardly tramps have wiped a whole family out of existence, and the shocking brutality, even the killing of the little boy, does not seem to be an impossibility laid at their doors. There is another objection, however.

How did Mrs. Wilcox come to be shot in the back?

If the tramps had come in and demanded money from her—as tramps would have done—she would have turned.

If the tramps had attacked her husband first, she would have [illegible] seems that the murder was committed by some one who and fired the shot that killed back before she could have attacked her husband.

The wallet of Wilcox was on the table with a rip and burn in it. It contained no money. It is not known there had been money in it, whether Wilcox had spent the house, anyhow. He told old man Lewis that he enough to buy five cows.

THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

SUMMARY OF THE DAY.

Mrs. Johanne Rohn is suing her husband, Frank A. Rohn, for support to the amount of $20 a month. She alleges that she is sick and indigent.

Charles Ernst, an architect, is suing the Pacific Art Manufacturing Company for services.

Two damage suits for personal injuries—one against the Southern Pacific and the other against the California Construction Company—were begun yesterday.

Failure to secure bids for the city's valuable holdings in the Tejunga Wash has given the Council much anxiety. The Land Committee, by its dilatory tactics, has lost many opportunities to secure leases of advantage to the city.

Many complaints have been made against the method of sweeping the streets, which is costing the city much more than formerly.

AT THE CITY HALL.

FEW BIDS FOR TEJUNGA LAND FORTHCOMING.

LAND COMMITTEE STILL LOST IN FITFUL MEDITATION.

Council Discovers That the Court Journal is not a Medium to Reach the Ranchers Who Expect to Lease the Water-bearing Land of the City.

Why are the lands in the Tejunga wash belonging to the city not rented? The question is asked on all sides.

About three months ago the city acquired by purchase over three hundred acres of land in the Tejunga for the purpose of increasing the water-bearing lands under municipal control. About half of the land has been under cultivation; and some of it is very fertile.

During the last two months many applications have been made for leases of the property. In some instances the parties who formerly owned the land wish to rent it of the city. Many farmers desired to secure the land for purposes of cultivation, purely as a speculation.

For several weeks the Land Committee, which is composed of Messrs. Todd, Blanchard and Walker, have had the problem of leasing the land under consideration. The policy of the committee has resulted in a long delay, and perhaps the city has lost the chance of renting the land this year. First, Todd was unable to attend to the matter, then Walker was indisposed, and, lastly, Blanchard went East. The ranchers indignantly protested against any action without the full knowledge and consent of the entire committee. Such tactics would be interpreted as a want of official courtesy, they said.

And so the problem of renting the land dragged along, there never being a time when the entire committee could get busily upon the matter. At last the Council wearied of such dilatory tactics on the part of the Land Committee, and demanded that some kind of report be presented at the next meeting.

That was three weeks ago. Blanchard was in the East, but under the ægis of the Council Walker and Todd walked meditatively up and down Broadway one afternoon until a bright thought struck Todd.

"We don't want to take the time and trouble to go up there and look up all these ranchers," declared the solon of the Eighth. "Now, it's dead easy to get rid of this proposition without that irksome and disagreeable duty."

Walker was all attention.

"What shall we do?" he demanded breathlessly.

"Nothing simpler," declared his colleague, with the air of a Sherlock Holmes. "We will advertise in the official paper."

"Agreed," declared Walker. "Let's make that as a report."

And so it happened. Now the Los Angeles Daily Journal is the official paper. Its chief sphere is to report legal news. However widely it may be read in this city, it certainly is not in general circulation along the Tejunga wash.

Last Monday bids were to be received. There was one. By some accident this man discovered that proposals to lease the property would be received by the Council, and he put in a bid for the land he has been living on. The piece is forty-two acres in extent, and G. Anderson will give the city $125 for it for the next year.

When it was discovered that only one bid had been presented for land in the Tejunga, Mr. Walker wanted to know.

"How about this here advice about advertising in the official paper?" demanded Walker.

Todd wasn't very sure, but stated that the committee will take some other means to "drum up" bids for the land. However, nothing has been done.

The city paid $32,400 for the 310 acres, purchasing it through the agency of E. V. Baker, a local real estate man, and Don Juan Lopez, a Spanish señor, who posed as the purchaser, in order to prevent the owner from getting the impression that the city wanted the land.

"About half of the land purchased by the city is fertile and tillable," declared Mr. Baker yesterday afternoon. "Much of it is barley land, and this should rent for $2 an acre, easily. There are several pieces of land that have been improved with houses and wells and plots of alfalfa. Such land should bring much more than $2 an acre. Perhaps some of it will bring $4, or even $5, an acre.

"A couple of months ago many applicants appeared at my office, who were desirous of renting land in the valley, but for the past week or so there have been fewer inquiries. Farmers desire to secure their land early in the fall, and it will be much harder to rent some of the land now, than it would have been two months ago. Possibly no renters can be found for some of it.

"I doubt if many of the ranchers down in the Tejunga knew anything about the advertisement of the land. They don't read the papers very much up there. When they called at my office weeks ago, I told them that the Council had made no arrangements for leasing the land, and probably many of them are of that opinion yet.

"If the Council would prepare blank forms of lease and give some one the authority to negotiate with the farmers in the Tejunga on stipulated terms, the city might derive considerable revenue from the land. I do not believe, however, that the inhabitants of that region will ever be reached through the medium of a court journal."

Chairman Todd of the Land Committee has not yet announced what scheme he proposes to use in "drumming up" bids for Tejunga land; but if the machinery is not put in operation soon, it is probable that most of the coverts will be found barren of game.

STREET SWEEPING.

MUCH MORE EXPENSIVE NOW.

Much dissatisfaction is found with the hand sweeping of the streets by merchants, who object to the clouds of fine dust that sometimes fill the air. The small particles are blown into the stores, where they settle on the finery and textile goods, much to the damage of the same. Many business men who are compelled to travel about the city, also complain that the streets are insufficiently swept.

Conditions, however, are not so bad now as during the summer months, when the hot sun dried the pavements in a few minutes after they had received a drenching from the sprinkling cart. The cooler air and the first rains of the season have done much toward mitigating the dust nuisance, but it is asserted that further improvement can be made in the service.

On Broadway there is some excuse for insufficient sweeping. Any one who will examine the surface of the street closely and observe the holes and pitfalls that are interspersed with elevations, will come to the conclusion that the hand-sweepers on the thoroughfare certainly have their ups and downs. A great amount of loose earth is brought from side streets onto Broadway and it settles in the holes in the pavement, from which it is very difficult to dislodge it.

Street Superintendent McGuire is of the opinion that the hand sweeping of the streets is no better done under the new system than when the city directly employed the men that use the brooms. But the cost to the city is considerably greater, as is witnessed by the stubs showing the monthly payments.

Prior to July 1, which marked the beginning of the new fiscal year, hand sweepers were employed by the city and were under the immediate supervision of the Street Superintendent. The territory covered by the hand sweepers was also swept by machines under contract, at the rate of 14½ cents per 1000 square yards. The hand sweepers were paid $2 a day for eight hours' work by the city.

Under this system the cost of sweeping the streets of the city for April, May and June, was $7121.13. For July, August and September, the first three months after the new system went into effect, the cost of street sweeping was $8826.82, or an increase of $1705.69 for the three months over the cost of the previous method. In the year this additional cost will amount to practically $7000.

At the present time the contractors do all the street sweeping under contract. For hand sweeping they are paid 62½ cents per 1000 square yards, and for machine sweeping 34⅜ cents per 1000 square yards.

The territory swept by hand is a trifle larger than that under the old system; but it is the opinion of city authorities that the city is now paying more for the same service than it did prior to the beginning of the fiscal year.

Large Tax Payments.

Over $35,000 was collected by Tax Collector White yesterday. The Los Angeles City Water Company paid the largest item of $11,634.22, of which $10,834.93 was on the main plant and $799.29 on the Crystal Springs property. The payment represents the entire tax on the property, one-half of which will be paid by the city if the compromise agreement is consummated. No new developments looking to the sale of the bonds came to light yesterday.

Sewer Bonds Paid.

The City Treasurer yesterday paid off $8000 in outfall-sewer bonds of the issue of 1892.

Reithmuller Will Build.

Building Superintendent Krause yesterday issued a building permit to A. J. Reithmueller for a three-story brick block at No. 421 West Fourth street, to cost $25,000.

AT THE COURTHOUSE.

HUSBAND'S NEGLECT ALLEGED BY WIFE.

SICK AND INDIGENT SHE IS WITHOUT SUPPORT.

Mrs. Johanne Rohn Sues Frank A. Rohn, a South Spring-street Bookstore Keeper, for Maintenance in Her Dire Extremity.

Neglect and suffering form the gist of a story told in a complaint filed in the Superior Court yesterday by Johanne Rohn against her husband, Frank A. Rohn.

Mrs. Rohn sues for support in the sum of $20 a month.

The parties were married in this city on November 7, 1891, and lived together as man and wife until June 6, 1900, during which time they acquired community property valued at $2500, and consisting of a book store at No. 515 South Spring street, all of which property is in the hands of the husband at the present time. For two and one-half years last past, it is alleged, Mrs. Rohn has been in continual ill-health, suffering from rheumatism, and for eighteen months has been under the care of a physician. The home provided for her, she says, has been grossly and unreasonably untfit, consisting merely of two rooms that are damp and cold, and do not receive the warmth and light of the sun.

Mrs. Rohn stood it all until June, 1900, when she says she was compelled to leave. Since that separation her husband has paid her $282 for her maintenance until September 1 of this year. Now he is alleged to have refused absolutely any further support, and she says she is indigent.

Wherefor, her attorney, H. G. Weyse, Esq., asks the court to provide her with $20 a month alimony and to enjoin her husband from disposing in any way of their community property.

SUIT FOR SERVICES

ARCHITECT GOES TO LAW.

The Pacific Art Manufacturing Company was made defendant yesterday in a suit begun by Charles Ernst, an architect, who asks judgment for $7163.

In June, 1900, it is alleged that defendant and plaintiff entered into a contract whereby plaintiff was employed to prepare and furnish plans and specifications for the construction of certain buildings, to be used in the manufacture of art tiles and other ceramic products at Tropico. Plaintiff says he was to receive for his services 2½ per cent. of the cost of the building, which he estimated would reasonably cost $150,000. After paying him $317 on account, the company, it is alleged, discharged plaintiff, to his damages, in $2525, and he wants also the balance of $3638 for services already rendered.

PERSONAL INJURIES.

TWO BIG DAMAGE SUITS.

Damage suits alleging personal injuries were begun yesterday by the victims of two separate accidents.

Tobias Thompson is suing the California Construction Company for damages in $25,000 and costs. On March 2 he was working in a quarry over in San Bernardino county when a rock rolled down a hillside and mashed his leg, necessitating amputation. The accident also caused paralysis of his right arm.

Manuel Albare is plaintiff in a $10,000 damage suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company. On August 30 Albare was crossing a track with a load of hogs, when suddenly a Southern Pacific train smashed into him and caused terrible demolition. The condition of the pigs was pitiful, the two horses were killed and the plaintiff was badly bruised. His medical aid in an endeavor to be cured of his injuries cost him $100.

COURTHOUSE NOTES.

LATEST BIG PROJECT FOR SAN DIEGO.

RIVAL OF MONTE CARLO ON A CORONADO ISLAND.

Enterprising Gamblers and Others Think They Could Attract People to the City of Bay'n' Climate by Establishing a Lottery.

SAN DIEGO, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] Since the City Council has tied up the lottery and gambling business good and hard, the citizens who take pleasure in the seductive games of chance contemplate establishing a joint beyond the jurisdiction of the city, State, county or Federal authorities. It is said by these people that the Council made a mistake in passing the ordinance and that it would have been much better to license two or three places, the city accruing the resulting revenue. They argue that it is human to gamble, and if it cannot be done openly it will be "on the side." It is suggested by them that some enterprising citizen might easily obtain a concession from the Mexican government for one of the Coronado Islands and there establish a copy of the Louisiana lottery. They predict that such an establishment would be eminently successful and could in the course of a few years even rival Monte Carlo. It would require but little outlay of capital, and after a year it would pay the concessionaire about $1,000,000 annually. It is also suggested that the enterprise would attract more tourists here than any of the present inducements, including the proposed new transcontinental railroad, the establishment of a line of steamers from this port to the Orient, the Point Loma spooks' roost, or any of the literature sent out by the Chamber of Commerce and real-estate firms. It is granted that great caution would have to be used in getting the matter started, but it is asserted that once well established it would advertise itself. This suggestion is interesting as being the same proposition which two New York parties tried to work out a few months ago. They went so far as to go to the City of Mexico to try to obtain the concession, but failed. The present agitation is caused by the fact that four new secret-service men have been appointed to shadow Chinatown.

CASSIDY MURDER TRIAL.

The prosecution closed its case this afternoon in the murder trial of Peter Cassidy. The morning was spent in cross-examining Ezra Fulkerson, who is the principal witness for the prosecution. He declares that he saw the defendant go to the door of Posey's saloon, thrust in his right hand, and take aim, the two shots following immediately. Rosy, the stingaree character, who frequents John Paul's saloon, was also on the stand. She declares that she was in the saloon at the time of the firing of the second shot. She saw Cassidy in the doorway, but will not swear that she saw him fire the fatal shot. Her testimony is not clear, and she was mixed during the cross-examination. Witnesses were introduced to show the enmity that existed between the defendant and Posey.

BIG LEMON PROJECT.

Edward Ackley of Palo Alto, proprietor of the Coast Collection Agency of San Francisco, is in the city to study the lemon industry. He has 300 acres of land near Del Mar and proposes to procure the necessary data on lemon and olive culture to start one of the largest ranches in the county. He will organize a company of San Francisco capitalists to go into the business on a wholesale scale.

Flexible Rubber Plates

Have many advantages over the old, thick, cumbersome ordinary rubber plates, and even over gold plates, being much lighter and thinner. These plates are flexible, only a trifle thicker than heavy writing paper, fit closer and adhere better to the roof of the mouth. Particles of food and small seeds cannot get under them. They will last longer, are stronger than any others and will not break, as they will give first, being flexible. Dr. Schiffman's own process and made ONLY by us.

I had my upper and lower teeth extracted by Dr. Schiffman without any pain. I have since had an upper and lower set made and they fit fine. They fit so tight that it is with difficulty that I can remove them. I cannot speak too highly of Dr. Schiffman and his work, and advise every one needing work done to patronize him.

MRS. E. J. KELLOGG, 146 W. 14th st.

To Dr. Schiffman—Dear sir: It gives me pleasure to state that you extracted fourteen teeth for me without the slightest pain, that the gums healed quickly, that the set of flexible teeth you fitted me with gave perfect satisfaction from the first, and after twenty-two months' wear are seemingly just as good as new. Yours truly,

THE SITUATION IN SOUTH AFRICA.

A South African correspondent of the London Times makes some statements which throw light upon the complicated problem of the Boer war. The correspondent says the British must be made to understand that they have to deal with a peculiar people, whose very elementary education has been directed by their unscrupulous leaders to imbue them with the belief that, as the chosen people of God, they are called to the dominion of South Africa. They are taught that the Amalekite Britisher is to be driven into the sea, leaving them the blacks as their hewers of wood and drawers of water, as in the days of the "trek." In Natal, says the correspondent, the people are either thoroughly loyal or thoroughly rebel, but in Cape Colony thousands of Afrikanders are on the fence.

There has been too much sentimental humbug, declares the correspondent. He insists that the inhabitants must be thoroughly "smashed" and made to feel that they are "smashed," for the sake of the future quiet of South Africa. Then, he says, will be the time for the British to be generous. After peace comes, the burghers can be handled easily, if the scales of justice are evenly held.

This looks like a somewhat cruel proposition, and will, doubtless, be greeted with a loud howl of protest on part of the Boer sympathizers, but then, what is a nation to do when the enemy which has been practically whipped persists in keeping up a guerrilla warfare, appearing and disappearing, as the occasion may require, like the "amigos" in the Philippines? Supposing that the people of the Southern States, after the surrender of Lee, instead of accepting the situation in good faith, had taken to the mountains and forests, in scattered bands, and had kept up bushwhacking tactics for several years. Is it to be believed that the nation would have displayed much patience or forbearance with them?

In this connection it should always be remembered that the so-called Boer republic is not a real republic, in the sense that we understand it in this country, but rather an oligarchy, in which a handful of shrewd Dutchmen in South Africa have enriched themselves through the development of their country by foreigners, to whom they refused representation, while forcing them to bear the greater part of the burden of taxation. It was something of a similar condition of affairs which led up to that little tea party at Boston, and the subsequent events which transformed the geography of the Western Hemisphere. The Boers are brave fighters. There can be no question of that, but they are fighting in a mistaken cause, and are persisting in keeping up desultory warfare after their cause is irrevocably lost.

MORE TROUBLE FOR THE TURK.

What between threats of foreign intervention, and home insurrections, and troubles with brigands, and conspiracies and manifestations of the "new woman spirit" among inmates of his harem, the lot of the unfortunate Sultan of Turkey is certainly not a happy one. It is no wonder that his latest portraits show him as a haggard and decrepit old man. Scarcely has he recovered from the shock caused by the visit of the French fleet, and while he is still being bombarded with protests from our diplomatic representatives in regard to the capture of Miss Stone, Abdul Hamid has more troubles heaped upon him. A recent dispatch from Paris stated that the Turkish government is much exercised over the report that two American girls have started for Turkey with the idea of getting captured by brigands, in a manner similar to the case of Miss Stone. The Turkish legation in Paris has been requested to investigate the matter.

Now here's a pretty howdy-do! If American girls are going to take up the idea of flying through Turkey, like butterflies, waiting for the brigands to capture them in their nets, the complications in Southeastern Europe will be increased tenfold, and a new phase of American "aggression" on the old continent will be developed. We would, however, advise these enterprising young women to go a little slow. In the first place, those same brigands are not by any means so romantic, and gallant, and well washed, in their native fastnesses, as they are on the stage in a comic opera. They have an unpleasant manner of chopping off fingers, and ears, and other members of the body, and sending them as souvenirs to friends of the victim, when they do not mercifully send a bullet through him—or her. There are other little experiences which a young woman in a camp of Turkish brigands might be expected to undergo, details of which it is not necessary to specify. Possibly, the young women referred to might desire to include these experiences in their "lark," as in all probability they would not—that is to say, unless men are much scarcer where they come from than they usually are in the United States. Again, it should be understood that the United States is not prepared to ride around like Don Quixote, rescuing hapless maidens from durance vile, when those maidens have deliberately run into the trouble.

Yes, indeed, these two Philadelphia girls—if, indeed, the story is well founded—are likely to find themselves two very miserable, if not dismembered, young women, should they carry out their foolish plan.

KENTUCKY COURTS AND POLITICS.

A dispatch from Frankfort, Ky., relates that the Court of Appeals has just "reversed the judgment of the Franklin Circuit Court, which sustained the decision of the State contest board in giving the office of Attorney-General to Judge Robert J. Breckinridge, and holds that Clifton J. Pratt of Hopkins county, the Republican nominee, is the legal officer. It is added that the decision of the court is final, and that Breckinridge is directed to retire from the office immediately.

The significance of this decision of the Kentucky Court of Appeals will be better appreciated when it is understood that Breckinridge was on the Democratic ticket two years ago, when Goebel ran for Governor on that ticket, and that Pratt was on the Republican ticket, headed by W. S. Taylor for Governor. The case of Pratt is the last of the bitter contests which grow out of the election of 1899. All the Republican candidates on the State ticket, who had been returned as elected by the canvassing board, were ousted from office by the Democratic contest board, and all except Pratt appealed from the ruling of the contest board to the Court of Appeals, which then had a Democratic majority and sustained the decision of the contest board. The seating of Goebel and the other Democratic candidates, and the assassination of Goebel soon afterward, are still fresh in the public mind. Pratt, who evidently saw the folly of appealing to a Democratic court, waited until the political complexion of the higher courts changed and then put in his appeal, with the result that the Democratic incumbent is "fired" and he (Pratt) is given the office.

This whole chapter of political history is a disgrace to the State of Kentucky. Putting aside the fundamental question as to whether the Taylor ticket or the Goebel ticket was really elected in 1899, it is evident that the court decisions and the contest board decisions, and all other decisions in the premises, were determined, not by abstract considerations of justice, nor yet by considerations of law and equity, but by the political bias of those who rendered these decisions. This is, of course, all wrong, wicked, and subversive of the fundamental principles of popular government. There should be no such thing as a Republican court or a Democratic court. The judiciary should keep well out of the domain of party politics. This is perhaps not possible under all circumstance, for political cases will go to the courts for decision. But in Kentucky the intermingling of the courts with politics has been carried to so shameless an extreme that the abuse has become a public scandal of such proportions that the stench thereof extends throughout the nation.

If matters go on in Kentucky as they have been going for the past few years, there will be little need for either party to expend time and money upon the farce of general State elections. The only candidates that it will be necessary to elect will be candidates for judicial positions. These could then give the State offices to the one party or the other according as the courts were Republican or Democratic. As a time-and-money saver this plan would undoubtedly be a very great success, though it would be something of a set-back to old-fashioned ideas of popular government.

It is not greatly to be wondered at that ex-Gov. Taylor, who was lucky enough to find sanctuary in the State of Indiana, is averse to returning to Kentucky to stand trial on a charge of complicity in the murder of Gov. Goebel. The court before which his trial would be had is not of his political faith. The political courts of Kentucky can convict a man of any crime, or clear him, as the case may be. Mr. Taylor is wise to remain in Indiana, at least until there shall have been a change of political faith in the trial courts of Kentucky.

Mary E. Wilkin has finally taken Dr. Freeman for better or worse. Now she will have a chance to employ her pen in writing prescriptions instead of stories.

PROPOSED NEW CABINET OFFICE.

Representative business men of Chicago and other cities have appealed to the President to recommend to Congress the creation of a new executive department, to be known as the Department of Commerce and Industries, with a Cabinet officer at its head. The Executive Committee of the National Business League has taken the matter up, and will endeavor to secure action by Congress at the next session.

The creation of the proposed new Cabinet office was recommended in the Republican National platform adopted at Philadelphia June 20, 1900. "In the interest of our expanding commerce," declared the platform, "we recommend that Congress create a Department of Commerce and Industries, in charge of a secretary with a seat in the Cabinet." This declaration met the almost unanimous approval of the business interests of the country.

The arguments put forward in support of the movement for the creation of this new Cabinet department are certainly very strong ones—even stronger, if possible, than those in favor of the creation of the Department of Agriculture, which is the latest addition to the Cabinet departments. The Department of Agriculture has grown to be an indispensable auxiliary of the executive branch of the government. But, while the whole annual product of our manufacturing industries exceeds in value the total annual product of our agriculture, the commercial and manufacturing interests have no representation in the Cabinet. It is further pointed out that "England, Germany, France, Italy, Spain, Russia, and other countries, many of which are our strenuous competitors in the markets of the world, have government departments devoted to the promotion and development of manufactures, and of commerce both foreign and domestic."

The Senate Committee on Commerce, of the Fifty-sixth Congress, reported favorably a bill for the creation of a Department of Commerce and Industries, and the measure would undoubtedly have been acted upon favorably in both Houses of Congress had it not been crowded out by a press of other public business which was deemed more important. Senator Nelson of Minnesota is to reintroduce the bill at the next session, and there is a good probability that it will pass. The tremendous growth of the manufacturing and commercial interests of the nation during the past few years has made the proposed department a necessity. There is not much probability of any serious opposition to it.

STATE SNAPSHOTS.

WHY SHE WAS A FAILURE.

He blowed about her cooking,
And the biscuits that she'd bake;
The pies she manufactured
Wa'nt like "mother used to make;"
She couldn't make a salad,
And he never did enjoy
Her dumplings, as he always did
His mother's, when a boy.

He criticised her sewing—
Said her buttons didn't stay
Sewed on his vest and trousers
In his mother's good old way;
Her stews were "simply horrid,"
And as for her Johnny-cake,
Well, it didn't hold a candle
To the "kind that mother'd make."

She couldn't make the coffee
In mother's famous style;
He said she'd have to practice up
On making bread awhile;
She always overbroiled the steak,
The ham was not done through;
She couldn't bake the buckwheat cakes
As mother used to do.

Of course there was a reason
For her failings; she had said
She'd like to learn to cook and mend,
And bake a loaf of bread,
But now her mind was occupied
Daytimes as well as nights—
She'd been elected president
Of a club for Woman's Rights!

For the National Flower.

Now, after a lapse of years, with golden rod running first and daisy second in the race, comes a new candidate for public favor, the carnation, its claims being indorsed by the florists of the State of Indiana, now holding their annual show at Indianapolis. It was the favorite flower of the late President McKinley, and the tribute to his memory involved in its adoption as the national emblem is proposed as within the reach of the people without difficulty or expense.—[Washington Star.

Due to the Press.

Chicago people believe, with apparent reason, that the surprising growth of their city is largely due to the confirmed habit of advertising its advantages. At a recent meeting of enterprising business men it was decided that an effort should be made to bring to Chicago some of the manufacturing establishments which are no longer prosperous in Europe, and some of the European capital which is seeking industrial investment. After considering the means of publicity the promoters of the project resolved to advertise Chicago in the leading newspapers of the principal cities of Europe.—[Philadelphia Record.

No Hinderance.

Harold, aged 20, had just returned from a trip to the mountains, having been out of reach of the barbers for a period of about six weeks.

He brought back with him, therefore, a perceptible streak of down across his upper lip.

"Well, Puss," he said, as his ten-year-old sister met him at the door, "I suppose you won't kiss me this time."

"Why not?" she asked.

"Because I've raised a mustache."

"Huh!" said Puss, putting up her mouth, "when I want to kiss anybody do you think a little thing like that is going to stop me?"—[Chicago Tribune.

Neptune and the Mermaids.

The mermaid had been reading about the experiment of sending men down tightly sealed up in a Holland submarine torpedo boat.

"I suppose," said she, and her pretty lip curled with scorn, "I suppose they are afraid somebody will carry off some of this precious human freight."

"For my own part," observed Davy Jones, glancing coyly toward the sea nymph, "I see no reason for picking locks when the very salt of the sea is going about absolutely unprotected."

The mermaid, her lip still a-curl with fine scorn, replied:

Smilax, ferns and bamboo last night transformed the bare guild hall at St. Paul's Pro-Cathedral into a bower of beauty.

The entrance to the hall, including the vestibule, the short flight and the upper approach, were made to appear like a grotto, as one entered the building. Inside the hall, there was a veritable hanging garden, suspended from the entire ceiling, and forming probably the most elaborate and beautiful effect in green ever seen in the city. The walls were covered with rich photogravures and other works of art, and a scheme of handsome floral decoration was carried out over the side walls.

The occasion of all this delightful display was a reception to Rev. Dr. J. J. Wilkins, rector and dean of the Pro-Cathedral, and Mrs. Wilkins. The rector and his wife occupied a central position on the east side of the hall, and there, assisted by a number of ladies, received the congratulations of the hundreds of guests, and from the center of a brilliant group throughout the evening.

It was a notable assemblage of prominent and fashionably-clad ladies and gentlemen, and as a result could not be surpassed. All the chairs had been removed, and the easy intermingling of the guests upon the floor, removed all stiffness. There was no speechmaking or special program, but the occasion was entirely informal, the air being constantly filled with melody from the Ladies' Vendig orchestra.

Bishop Johnson was a host unto himself as a conversational entertainer, and there were also present Rev. Dr. Restovick of San Diego, Rev. George Thomas Dowling of Trinity Church, Rev. B. W. R. Taylor of St. John's, Archdeacon Trew of the Church of the Epiphany, and all other rectors of the city.

Refreshments were served in a separate room, on the opposite side of the vestibule.

THE OIL INDUSTRY.

REPORTED SALE OF VENTURA PROPERTY.

Chicago Crude Will Try to Prove Up South Side of Kern River—California Fortune's Oil Runs Away—Nothing Doing on 'Change.

Negotiations are now pending in this city for the purchase of the entire holdings of the Pure Oil Company, one of the successful operators of the Santa Paula field of Ventura county.

The company, which was organized over a year ago, controls 160 acres in the heart of the field, on which there is one producing well. The purchasers are said to be local parties, and the consideration named is very close to $400 an acre.

For several months there has been little development work in the Santa Paula field, but it is now evident that the district is on the eve of a very active winter. It is announced that the Hartford syndicate, which purchased half of the holdings of the Aquila company, is now installing a drilling rig, and will begin the search for oil in a few days. The Aquila company will also resume operations, and will probably begin a new hole.

The Empire Oil Company on the east side of the Aquila, is already in line, having begun drilling on section 14. The well has reached a depth of 300 feet.

A contract was let yesterday by the Paxton Gold Bond Oil Company of San Francisco for a well to be put down on section 16. On its property which adjoins the Capital Crude, the Northern Oil Company is getting ready to begin drilling.

CHICAGO CRUDE HAS NERVE.

If nerve will win, the Chicago Crude will find oil on its property, which is on the south side of the Kern River, for that company has never lost faith in the possible productiveness of that section. Months ago a well was started on section 24, 29, 28, but a few weeks ago work was suspended at a depth of 900 feet. Since that time the Panorama company struck oil on an adjoining section at a depth of 1100 feet, but the operators were unable to shut off a flow of water, and the well had to be abandoned.

The renewal of the work is probably due to the fact that the drillers of the Panorama well are confident that the strata of oil encountered is sufficiently rich to warrant the sinking of another hole to the sand. If the oil-bearing strata is struck, the water will be shut off, and the casing perforated.

FORTUNE'S HARD LUCK.

The California Fortune had hard luck early this week, and because of it the company is several hundred barrels of oil poorer. This company is one of the successful Sunset operators that has more oil than tankage. For some time its two wells have been flowing at a lively rate, and the product has been allowed to run down a ravine where it was dammed and stored. "A few days ago," says the Bakersfield Echo, the weight of the oil became so great that the dam was washed away and a hole several feet wide was washed through the roadway. As the oil was getting out of control, it was decided that it should be burnt in order to keep it from running on the properties below. Accordingly a breastwork of dirt was built near the wells, and a fire was started in the oil. Several hundred barrels were consumed before it burnt itself out.

TRAVELING PASSENGER AGENTS DEPART.

LAST DAYS OF THE VISITORS' STAY IN CALIFORNIA.

Delights of Monterey, Prunes of San Jose, Chinatown Stench, Trip Up Mount Tamalpais and "Millsey's" Orgy Brought Their Revels to an End.

The representatives of the American Association of Traveling Passenger Agents have concluded their round of visits in California, and this morning will pass out of the State on their way northward and eastward. The last function in which they participated was a farewell banquet tendered them by Messrs. Stubbs and McCormick at the Palace Hotel, San Francisco, last night.

Their progress through the State up to the time of their arrival at Monterey has been reported in the columns of The Times. The rest of their sojourn in California was but a repetition of the whole-souled hospitality that was extended to them everywhere. From the time they crossed the Colorado River into the Land of Sunshine until they crossed the divide separating Southern California from the rest of the State.

At Monterey the great Hotel del Monte was thrown wide open to them. Carriages for the famous seventeen-mile drive were furnished the entire party, and during dinner at the hotel Mr. McCormack, passenger traffic manager of the Southern Pacific, announced that the accommodations of the day had been furnished by the Pacific Improvement Company, whose cashier was overlooked, and who had requested him to ask the traveling passenger agents to refrain from adding to his burdens.

At San José, Monday, the party was taken in hand by the Santa Clara Valley Improvement Club, and breakfasted at the Vendome and St. James hotels. The eighteen-mile drive through the prune belt followed, a stop being made to witness the method of handling prunes. Each member of the party was presented with a pound box of the 80,000,000 pounds of prunes produced in this valley.

The ladies of San José decorated the cars, bearing the tourists in a lavish manner, with flowers, palms and flags. That night the wonders of San Francisco and Chinatown were explored. On Tuesday the excursionists were the guests of the North Pacific Coast Railroad and the Mt. Tamalpais Scenic Railway for a trip up the mountain. Unfortunately, the day was cloudy, and but little of the magnificent scenery was visible. Tuesday evening was spent at the San Francisco Orpheum, as guests of the Southern Pacific Company.

On Wednesday the Market Street Railway Company furnished special cars for a trip about the city, and the Board of Trade gave a complimentary luncheon at the Cliff House, where William H. Mills regaled the party with his gift oratory.

At the farewell banquet at the Palace Hotel last night the representatives of the association gave heartfelt expression of their gratitude for the kindly hospitality shown them by the people of California, and promised to do all in their power to repay their entertainers by sending more people to the Pacific Coast in the future than had ever visited the West before.

WOMEN'S CLUBS.

Delphian Art Club.

The art environment of the age of Charles the Great was the subject of yesterday's study at the Ruskin Art Club. Mrs. R. B. Ashley and Mrs. W. H. Tritt were in charge. Introducing the work of the day, Miss A. M. Donoghue described the time of Charles as a period more important in politics than in art, and commented on the Emperor's character and significance as warrior and conqueror, as administrator and legislator. Continuing, Mrs. W. H. Washburn spoke on the significance of Charles as a protector of the arts and sciences—of intellectual development in general. Mrs. R. B. Ashley described the work of Alcuin and Eginhard as influencing their time, and the relation of the papacy to the state, referring to the falsely reputed donation of Constantine of dignities and privileges that made the papal power a copy of the imperial. Mrs. D. K. Edwards described the personality of Charles. Mrs. Ashley had the topic of "Aachen," its history, architecture and general importance, and Mrs. E. E. C. Brown in like manner discussed "Nimeguen." Mrs. A. E. Wadleigh gave a general review of the art and architecture of the ninth century—the early domestic usage, illumination, the art of weaving, the work of the goldsmiths and the manufacture of glass. This closed the year.

Monday Morning Club.

An interesting meeting of the Shakespeare section was held in Campbell's rooms Wednesday, with the leader, Mrs. H. S. Averill, in the chair. The play of Coriolanus was continued, and the reading of Act III completed. Many interesting points were discussed, and traits in the characters of Volumnia and Coriolanus brought out.

Ebell Monica Coterie.

"Roosevelt" was the strenuous subject considered at the meeting of the Ebell Monica Coterie Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. George B. Shaw, on Third street. The program included an address by Mrs. Kate Taft, and musical selections by Mrs. Vermilie, Mrs. Brain and Mrs. Shelborow.

CHLOROFORM ROUTE.

Family Quarrel Causes a Wife to Try to End Her Life With Poison, but She is Saved.

Mrs. Lula Spencer made a desperate effort to end her life late Tuesday afternoon in her room on Hill street between Third and Fourth. She and her husband had quarreled over some domestic matter and she told him that she would commit suicide. He considered that a threat an idle one and paid little attention to it, but shortly before midnight he found her almost unconscious and near by was lying a half-empty bottle of chloroform. She told him that she had swallowed the poison and that she wanted to die. Police Surgeon Pierce was hastily summoned and, after working with the woman for several hours, neutralized the effects of the poison and pronounced her out of danger.

UP AGAIN, DOWN AGAIN.

It Will Take Two Minutes, Perhaps Three, for the Round Trip on the Angels' Flight.

The new inclined railway up the Third-street hill from Hill to Olive street, the franchise for which was granted to J. W. Eddy by the City Council last May, will be in operation, so the builder says, by December 1. The work has progressed without any serious hitches since the first ground was broken, and no difficult engineering problems have had to be solved. The terraced park which adorns the upper half of the hill, is also nearly completed, and what was for so many years a weed patch and a dumping ground for garbage and tin cans, is rapidly being converted into a sightly little park.

The two cars, which are to be the rolling stock of the road, arrived last week and have been named, respectively, the Sinai and the Olivet. The road itself has received the appellation of the "Angels' Flight." The fitness of the name is at once evident, when one remembers the Spanish equivalent for Los Angeles, and the name has no doubt been guilty of a piece of subtle flattery. Each car has a seating capacity of eleven persons, but will carry a load of twenty.

At the top of the incline is the motor-house, in which has been placed the new ten-horse power motor, which had just arrived. It has been estimated by an engineer that not more than seven horse power will ever have to be used, which makes it seem likely that there will be no danger of a lack of energy. The whole railroad will be operated by one man, who will sit in the motor-house and send the cars speeding up or down by means of levers.

The motive power will be electricity, which will operate the cables to be used. These will not be underground, but will run on rollers.

When the time table goes into effect a trip one way will consume one minute and a half, and the time may be reduced to one minute each way.

Whether the new road will pay or not is a mooted question. Before he had applied for the franchise, Mr. Eddy went into the matter very thoroughly with a view to determining whether there would be sufficient regular traffic to warrant the expenditure that he has made, and the construction of the road was a result of his investigation. Whether the people would rather climb the steps to the top of the 100-foot hill than pay a 1-cent fare will be evident later. Mr. Eddy probably hopes that every person on the hilltop will be as lazy as Ajax.

THE OCCULT SCIENCE.

Dr. Alexander McIvor-Tyndall, the famous thought-reader, who will appear at Blanchard Hall on Friday and Saturday evenings, is said to use the petty tricks of the cheap fakir in the occult science, to amuse the crowd, at the expense of the pretenders. Thought transference is said to be no puzzle to him. While he is apparently a century ahead of the procession, he amuses himself, while he waits, by showing his less fortunate fellow-creatures the possibilities of the future. While the alleged magicians call it magic, Dr. McIvor-Tyndall calls it an advanced state of intellectual development. The management is looking for Blanchard Hall to be packed on Friday and Saturday nights.

Catarrh of the Nose.
Chronic or ulcerative, causes ulcers to form which produce scabs and fetid breath; first one and then the other nostril is stopped up. If the secretions of the facial and nasal cavities have become putrid and of a cancerous form, and the discharge offensive, a safe and effective wash is a solution of boracic acid in hot water, stronger or weaker according to the parts affected, which may be used with nasal douche or snuffed up from the hand gently, never violently. In all cases take the S. B. Catarrh Cure as directed, which will remove the accumulation of effete matter from the system, carrying it off through the various organs of the body, and a speedy cure may be relied upon. For sale by all druggists. Book on Catarrh free. Address Smith Bros., Fresno, Cal.

A PHENOMENAL PRAYER BAND.

Business Men's Success as Revivalists.

How a Little Movement Became a Big One.

Sons of Sin Picked Out of the Gutter by Praying Enthusiasts.

In this time of sects and movements and isms numberless, there seems to be a good, old-fashioned, Plymouth Rock jingle about the name, "Men's Praying Band," whose recent development in Los Angeles has been nothing short of phenomenal, and whose anniversary will be celebrated next Monday.

The unassuming Praying Band, which has no organization, which is burdened with no officers, and which has no governing principles—save one—had a beginning in the private residence of Dr. Campbell, on Boyle Heights, three years ago, and then it "just growed."

It has proven to have great drawing

powers, and has won men from every walk in life, and from many nationalities, and has to its credit some remarkable conversions.

The common explanation of those who would explain away its success, by saying that men seek it for its social enjoyment, will not stand, for these men, who express a belief in the divinity of Christ and in His atonement, simply meet and pray and sing and talk, for an hour or two, and then go home. They do this every Monday night, and it doesn't seem to grow old.

Beginning with sixteen men, three years ago, the Boyle Heights band now has a steady average attendance of forty, and that's its membership—just those who come.

Walter L. Cleveland, one of the most active men in the band, has kept tab on certain vital points, and he asserts that the three years show more than 100 men converted, and he thus summarizes them:

"Among those saved in our services are doctors, lawyers, machinists, painters, book-keepers, politicians, railroad men, clerks, merchants, carpenters, teamsters, oil-well drillers, and included in this list are skeptics, nominal Christians, Jews, drunkards, dope fiends, Mormons and men who apparently had given the matter of religion no thought."

There is no more remarkable statement made by Mr. Cleveland than that, of the more than 200 men who have been in touch with the band during the three years, there has been but one death, and that of a man 84 years of age.

Among the leading spirits are Dr. Campbell, who was the originator of the movement; Luke Lederman, Walter L. Cleveland, George P. Phibbs, J. B. Threlkeld, Dr. N. O. Walker, John L. Davis and many others who might be mentioned with equal propriety.

LUKE LEDERMAN.

SAVING A RAILROADER.

One of the most remarkable conversions, in its results, in the manner of its bringing about, and as showing the earnestness of the men of the Praying Band, is that of John Menzies.

John Menzies had been general freight agent of the Plant Railway system, at Atlanta, Ga., the most extensive railway system in the South. Two years ago, early one Sunday morning, he found himself upon the streets of Los Angeles, bare-headed, drunk, filthy, hungry, penniless and friendless.

John L. Davis, one of the Praying Band, passed that way, and, seeing Menzies, said to himself, as he looked in his fine face: "Here is a man out of the ordinary."

He picked up the friendless stranger, notwithstanding his awful condition, took him to his home on Boyle Heights, and locked him in the house while he went off to church.

When he returned, Menzies was able to tell something of himself. He said he got drunk at Atlanta, where he drew a big salary, lost his place, and went on a spree to New Orleans. He had a valise filled with good clothing and all his personal belongings, and was well supplied with money.

By some means he came into possession of a ticket to Los Angeles, and when he arrived here on a Saturday night, his valise had been stolen, and one filled with filthy clothing was in his possession. During that night he lost his hat by some means, and was driven from a First-street saloon in the morning, and that is the time John Davis found him.

He was cleaned up, fed and clothed and given a home in Davis's house. On Monday night he went to the meeting of the band with Davis, and was so impressed that he soon professed conversion and became a member of the band.

For a full year this competent man, who had held high position, cut lawns, trimmed trees and did all sorts of odd jobs about Boyle Heights, until satisfied that he was no longer a drunkard.

A year ago his friends were communicated with at Atlanta, his statements verified, and his reformation announced. They secured for him a position as a freight roustabout, with the Rio Grande Western Railroad at Salt Lake, and he now holds a responsible position in the freight department of the same road, and has started a Praying Band in Salt Lake.

MOVEMENT SPREADING.

While the Boyle Heights band maintains its Monday-night meeting, against all obstacles, they have done missionary work in other parts of the city, and now bands have been started among the men out on Bellevue avenue and in East Los Angeles. It has also been carried to Bakersfield by a man named Palmer, and to Colorado by a man named Chappel, both converts of the Boyle Heights band.

M'KINLEY MEMORIAL.

Work of Canvassing for Boys Industrial Home Fund Will Be Continued Until Next Summer.

The work of canvassing for $50,000 for the McKinley Memorial—Boys' Industrial Home will be continued until June 30, instead of until November 24, as at first planned. This was decided upon at the last meeting of the committee having in charge the raising of the funds.

C. G. Baldwin, who has been directing the work, made a report to the committee that it is impossible to make a ten-day canvass, from the fact that a sufficient number of capable canvassers cannot be obtained at the present time. He says: "When the need of experienced workers was greatest I found only three or four able to work. I applied to the rooms of the Board of Education for substitute teachers, but found every one employed and more needed. I met the same response at the employment bureaus of the Young Men's and Young Women's Christian associations. This situation was a great surprise to me. It indicates great prosperity of the city, but is fatal to the ten-day canvass. The situation suggests at once the picture of acres of fruit rotting on the trees for lack of pickers."

A resolution extending the time was adopted, and new blanks with the changed date will be prepared at once.

CHILD STUDY CIRCLES.

The Child's Study Club of the Alpine school met Tuesday afternoon of this week. A large and appreciative audience greeted Miss Mary Foy, who gave an interesting address. Miss Foy, recently home from Europe, was warm in the praise of America. Mrs. Wiseman rendered the patriotic song, "Barbara Frietchie," in a charming manner. She was accompanied on the piano by Miss Wiseman. Mrs. De Garmo and Mrs. A. McLain were appointed as a committee to select playgrounds for the boys.

The Harper Child Study Circle met Tuesday afternoon with a good attendance. Work for future meetings was planned, and music and discussions were followed by refreshments and a social half hour.

COLORED WOMEN'S CLUB.

The Woman's Industrial Club, an organization of colored women of Los Angeles, held a session last night in the Azusa-street African Methodist Episcopal Church. Mrs. M. E. Bronson read a paper on "Opportunities and Advantages of Club Life;" Mrs. J. B. Roan gave a vocal solo, with Miss Ida de Leon as accompanist, and the club listened to a rousing address by W. J. Thompson, prime mover for the colored industrial training-school, showing the need of and opportunity for such an institution. The club has several ambitious plans for the improvement of the colored race in this city, and purpose carrying these out during the winter. Meetings will be held the first and third Wednesdays of each month in the Azusa-street church.

COLE'S LUCK.

Nathan Cole, Jr., who was severely injured in a wreck on the Santa Fé road, near Gallup, N. M., two weeks ago, was a passenger on the eastbound limited yesterday morning. Mr. Cole had not yet fully recovered from his injuries of a fortnight ago when he started East to be caught in a second wreck. He telegraphed his family in this city, yesterday, however, that he escaped injury in this latest disaster. He said he was not even badly shaken up. A later telegram from Mr. Cole stated that he had resumed his journey eastward.

A LINEMAN'S MISHAP.

John Haverstick, a lineman in the employ of the telephone company, got hold of a live wire while repairing a line on West Seventh street, near Valencia, yesterday afternoon, and received a shock which caused him to fall from a pole to the cement sidewalk, a distance of twenty or twenty-five feet. His right arm was broken in two places and he sustained other painful injuries. The wounded man was removed to his home at Fifth street and Grand avenue, where his injuries were attended to.

EVENTS IN SOCIETY.

Miss Lucy F. MacDougall, daughter of Mrs. F. A. Jesurun, and Arthur F. Lapworth were married yesterday evening at 7:30 o'clock at the home of the bride's mother, No. 430 West Washington street. The Rt. Rev. George Montgomery officiated and he was assisted by Father Antill. The decorations were exceptionally beautiful and artistic and were carried out under the direction of Miss Goodin, who introduced many of her own unique ideas. The color effect throughout was blue and white. The driveway was brilliantly illuminated with electric lights and thousands of incandescent lights were placed about the grounds. The lights outside and within were subdued with blue shades. The rooms on the first floor and the banquet room in the basement were arranged in canopy effect with streamers of broad blue satin ribbons, interwoven with garlands of smilax, and the walls were banked with great feathery white chrysanthemums, which also formed immense bouquets which were placed about the various rooms. In one corner of the drawing room was a bower of ferns, with loops and lovers' knots of blue satin ribbons, caught here and there. Underneath, the bridal party stood during the impressive service. Arend's Orchestra furnished music, playing the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin." When the party entered the drawing room and during the ceremony "O Promise Me" was softly rendered. The bride wore an exquisite gown of ivory-tinted satin, with an overdress of duchess lace and chiffon. Her long tulle veil was held in place with a diamond crescent and she carried a bouquet of Bride roses. Mrs. Jesurun, who gave her daughter away, was gowned in pale-blue crepe de chene, elaborately trimmed with cream lace and embroidered applique. Miss Francesca Brodrick, niece of the bride, attended her as maid of honor. She was gowned in white chiffon trimmed with lace and ribbons, and she carried white carnations. The bridesmaids, Misses Nina and Nellie Rowland, cousins of the bride, wore gowns of white mousseline de soie, trimmed with blue satin ribbons. They carried white carnations. The four ribbon bearers, Lucy and Anita Brodrick, Laurita Kimball and Lucile Gage, all cousins of the bride, were gowned in blue and white; two wore blue gowns of mousseline de soie with white-ribbon trimmings, and two wore white gowns, trimmed with blue ribbons. The groom is a member of the firm of Lapworth & Drew of this city, and his partner, G. P. Drew, attended him as best man. Eugene Brodrick, nephew of the bride, was ring bearer. From 7:30 until 8:30 o'clock a large reception was held. More than four hundred invitations had been issued to friends in Southern California, and the surrounding towns were well represented with society people. The bride is a native daughter and she belongs to one of the most prominent old families of Southern California. She is very popular in society, and the high esteem in which she is held was manifested by the number of gifts received. She is a cousin of Mrs. Henry T. Gage. Mr. and Mrs. Lapworth will travel for a few weeks, visiting the points of interest along the Coast. They will make their home in Los Angeles. Mr. Lapworth came here three months ago from Boston, Mass., his native home, and has decided to locate here permanently.

MR. AND MRS. ARTHUR S. LAPWORTH.

Perry-Pearson.

Miss Adelaide Isabel Perry and Edward William Pearson were married yesterday evening at the home of the bride's parents, No. 1522 Cambria street. The service took place at 8 o'clock and Rev. Colmaer officiated. More than one hundred and fifty invitations had been issued to the wedding and a large number of guests were present. The bride was unattended. She wore a gown of white silk with an overdress of white organdie, and she carried a large bouquet of white feathery chrysanthemums. The rooms were artistically decorated. White carnations, smilax and white satin ribbons were arranged in canopy effect overhead and bouquets of fragrant blossoms were placed here and there about the room. The service took place under a bower arranged in one corner, and the couple took their places under three white floral bells, suspended from the bower with broad white satin ribbons. Poinsettias and smilax formed the hall decorations, and the stairway was set with potted plants and the railing twined with smilax, studded with flaming poinsettias. Yellow chrysanthemums, satin ribbons and ferns were used in the library, and pink carnations and asparagus plumosus in the dining-room. Miss Clara Ferris presided at the piano, playing sweet music throughout the evening. Mr. and Mrs. Pearson will go north for a short trip, and upon their return they will reside at No. 927 Oakey street, where they will be at home after December 1. The bride received many gifts. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Ferry. Mr. Perry is prominent in lodge circles, and is at present State secretary of the Independent Order of Foresters. The groom is a member of the Merchants' Mammoth Produce Company of this city. Mr. and Mrs. Perry were assisted in receiving the guests by Mr. and Mrs. C. Eugene Brain, Mr. and Mrs. Newton Moore and Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Pearson.

Large Reception.

Mrs. Florence Amy Young entertained a large number of Los Angeles friends yesterday evening with a reception and dancing party, given at the Abbotsford Inn, corner of Eighth and Hope streets. The party was a complimentary courtesy to Miss Emilie Holzer, Miss Gertrude Keller and Miss Anna Roberts, members of the class of 1901 of the Los Angeles School of Dramatic Art. With its large court the hotel is well adapted to an entertainment of this kind and lends itself admirably to decorative arrangement. The color effect was carried out in red and green. Large pepper boughs and berries were banked about the walls, and palms, carnations, geraniums, chrysanthemums and many other tropical flowers were gracefully arranged. The lights were subdued with red shades, producing a charming effect. "We Are Seven" Orchestra furnished delightful music throughout the evening at intervals; Miss Sybil Conklin sang several rich contralto solos; Miss Grace Janette Smith played violin numbers and Mrs. Mae Freim-Russell was heard in several vocal solos. Mrs. Young was assisted in receiving and entertaining by the following named: Mrs. Isabel Wyatt, Misses Etta Bicknell, Della Buckley, Evangeline Perry, Fay Wallace, Margaret Eastman, Alice Groff, Mildred Gilbert, Mildred Ludlum and Mabel Shoulters. At 11 o'clock refreshments were served, after which dancing was engaged in until after midnight.

Mrs. Ira Smith delightfully entertained the Tuesday Afternoon Whist Club at her home, No. 242 South Grand avenue, Tuesday afternoon. The house was tastefully decorated with holly berries, smilax and cut flowers. Light refreshments were served. Mrs. M. P. Brooks won the first prize, a silver ladle; Mrs. Avery secured the second, a silver fish fork, and to Mrs. Bryson was awarded the consolation. The next meeting will be December 3 at the home of Mrs. W. H. Crail. Those present were: Mrs. M. P. Brooks, Mrs. A. E. Thornton, Miss Aggie Sullivan, Mrs. Avery, Mrs. M. J. Smith, Mrs. W. H. GREAT DIVIDE CROSSED BY GEORGE CARSON.

ANOTHER PIONEER HAS REACHED HIS JOURNEY'S END.

Well-known Rancher Passes Away at His Beautiful Country Home—Notable Career as Soldier, Merchant, Public Official and Farmer.

A large circle of warm friends, including many of the old pioneers, whose ranks are daily growing thinner, will be grieved to learn of the death of George Carson, who died at 9:30 o'clock last evening at his beautiful country home near Domingues Station, San Pedro rancho.

Mr. Carson's life has been an eventful one. Born in the State of New York in the year 1832, he was 12 years old when his parents moved to St. Charles, Ill., where young George entered the public schools. Then came the stirring times of 1846, when war was declared by our government against Mexico and the inspiring notes of the fife and drum caused the young patriot's heart to throb with thoughts of glory, and to respond to his country's call for volunteers. Dropping his school books and shouldering his musket the lad of 14, slight of physique, but with the courage of a man, enlisted in Col. Newberry's famous regiment of Illinois Volunteers. As soldier, drummer and bugler, he served throughout the Mexican campaign, winning the respect and love of officers and men alike by his gallant bearing and soldier-like qualities. After being mustered out of service with his regiment at Santa Fé, N. M., he spent several years there as post trader, and in Mexico doing a commercial business with the natives, whose language he had mastered. Those were troublesome days on the frontier of civilization, and on several occasions the young ex-soldier was called upon to lead the brave frontiersmen to repel the savage bands of marauding Indians of Mexico and the Territories, who were bent upon destroying the hated "pale faces."

In 1853 Mr. Carson paid a visit to the then little pueblo of Los Angeles, to purchase goods, but becoming enamored with the climate and the happy, whole-souled people, he determined to cast his lot with those pioneers, who have since built up this section of the State. The same year he engaged in the hardware trade on Commercial street, where he soon built up a lucrative business.

In 1855 Mr. Carson was elected Public Administrator of Los Angeles county, and for many years served faithfully and well in that position. On July 30, 1857, he was married to Victoria Domingues, daughter of Don Manuel Domingues, proprietor of the princely estate known as El Rancho San Pedro, a magnificent grant of land from the King of Spain for military services rendered to the Spanish government by the grandfather of Don Manuel.

In 1858 Mr. Carson disposed of his commercial business and engaged in stock raising and ranching on a large scale, at one time being in partnership with I. W. Hellman in the importing and breeding of fine grades of sheep.

From its organization, Mr. Carson has been an active and ardent member of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, believing that only through the united and systematic efforts of our business men could the world at large learn of the great natural advantages possessed by Southern California. He lived to see Los Angeles grow from a straggling Mexican village to a beautiful and cultivated city. In business and financial circles, Mr. Carson's word was as good as his bond. No one doubted his integrity or his honesty of purpose—they were a part of his life—while in hospitality he was the equal of the open-handed, generous-hearted Spanish dons, who gave to California its world-wide reputation for kindly, unostentatious hospitality.

About one year ago Mr. Carson was stricken with an insidious, incurable malady that baffled the skill of the most eminent physicians of this city and of San Francisco. Realizing the inevitable, the grand old man, with the courage that distinguished the boy, faced the grim monster, death, as calmly, patiently and heroically as only the clean of hands and soul may. "Setting his house in order," giving final instructions on matters that should afford protection to his loved ones when he should no longer be their protector, he gathered his family around him, and, strong in the faith of his religious belief, the Catholic church, he awaited the summons of his God.

Mr. Carson leaves a widow and ten children, with one exception, adults. His daughters are the Misses Mary, Amelia, Victoria and Lucy, and Mrs. Charles Caldwell; his sons, George, José, David, Edward and John M. Carson of Redondo. His only living brother is Henry Carson of Compton. There are many near relatives in New York State and in Los Angeles, among the latter are Mrs. John F. Francis, Miss G. M. Domingues, Mrs. Ana Domingues de Guyer, Mrs. Dolores Domingues de Watson and Mrs. Susana Domingues del Amo.

The remains will be laid at rest in the Domingues vault, Calvary Cemetery. Arrangements for the funeral services are not completed. They will be announced later.

WORSE THAN PLAGUE.

Introduction of the Whooping Cough into New Guinea Causes the Massacre of Many Natives.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—A.M.]

LONDON, Nov. 20.—[By Atlantic Cable.] Lieut.-Gov. George R. L. Hunt, in his annual report on New Guinea, tells a curious story of native superstition which is causing the sacrifice of innumerable lives. It appears that whooping cough was introduced by two white children, and spread with frightful rapidity. It first swept the coasts and is now ravaging the interior.

As the natives hold that death, from whatever cause, is always compassed by an unknown enemy, only discoverable through witchcraft, whenever a village is attacked with whooping cough a sorceress is consulted. The latter invariably designates another village as culpable, and a midnight massacre of innocent persons occurs.

GERMAN-CZECH CONFLICT.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The Vienna correspondent of the London Times and the New York Times says the situation in the Reichsrath, due to the violent nationality conflict going on outside, is a critical one. A leading paper of Prague says all the efforts of the Government and German party will be vain if undertaken with the purpose of prolonging the present situation, which is an injustice to the linguistic rights of the Czechs.

The largest office building in the world will be the one an Anglo-American syndicate expects to erect on the Strand, London. It will have thirty elevators, operating day and night. The building will contain 6000 offices, and there will be a huge rotunda under a lofty dome.

THE WHITE STATUE.

Meeting of the Memorial Committee—Looking to Another Board of Supervisors to Grant the Popular Wish.

If Supervisors Alexander, Field and Wilson, the trio of county legislators who so remarkably misrepresented the people, in their action regarding the location of the memorial to the late Senator Stephen M. White upon the Courthouse grounds, fondly imagined that the incident was closed when they voted to deny the memorialists, they reckoned without a host of voters, who for a long time will remember the ignominious attitude of the board.

Knowing that the great force of public sentiment is in accord with the desires of the memorialists that the memorial statue be placed upon the Courthouse greensward, the Executive Committee in charge of the fund held a meeting in the Mayor's office yesterday afternoon and ratified the action taken at the informal meeting of the day before, which adopted the following resolution:

"Resolved, that the work of erecting the Stephen M. White memorial statue be postponed until such time as a site on the Courthouse grounds shall be officially granted by a board of supervisors."

In the existing aspect of the case, and after the adoption of the foregoing resolution, it is recognized by the committee that the location of the statue is destined to become an issue, though not a political issue, in the next local campaign. The voters, without reference to party, will settle the question, and they will not settle it adversely to the memory of Stephen M. White.

"There can be no party politics in this matter," said a member of the committee, "because it will be impossible to line up all Republicans on one side of the issue and all Democrats on the other. The aim of the memorialists will be to secure a location for the statue of the late Senator upon the Courthouse grounds, through the election of a fair and friendly Board of Supervisors. The petitions presented are ample evidence of public sentiment. There will come an opportunity to find out whether public servants can with impunity [illegible] wishes of their constituents.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL.

OFFICE OF THE TIMES,
Los Angeles, Nov. 22, 1901.

FINANCIAL.

TREASURY SURPLUS. The American Banker, speaking of the surplus in the treasury says:

"The increase in the surplus is the result of a number of conflicting items. October's total receipts were $34 less than in 1900; but this was due to $4,179,495 decrease of internal revenue, due to the tax remission of last March. Customs revenue showed $2,982,632, which indicates the increase in the month's dutiable imports than in September, when there was only $1,135,000 beyond last year. Record of expenditure shows that of the $7,347,701 reduction to have been due to anticipation of October interest by the treasury. Interest payments in September were about three times above the usual average for the month; for October, they are, accordingly, three millions less. But War Department expenditures also decreased $6,695,658 last month, making a net increase on that account, in the completed months of the fiscal year $15,944,047.

COMMERCIAL.

TRADE TERMS. Prices and conditions are about the same as one week ago. There is a fair demand, says the California Fruit Grower, seeded goods having the call. Deliveries at packing houses this week are in excess of shipments, and some accumulation of stock. But the rule deliveries and shipments have been a stand-off, packers shipping out as fast as packed. Nearly all early orders have been filled. It is generally understood that the 16th will pass without any change in the price of raisins delivered after that date. The bulk of the second crop has gone to the wineries. The stock of raisins in New York warehouses on November 1 was 18,000 boxes of Valencias and 15,000 boxes of Sultanas. The distribution during October was 30,800 boxes of Valencias and 7,000 boxes of Sultanas.

GENERAL BUSINESS TOPICS.

ORANGE-FRUIT SHIPMENTS. There were shipped from Southern California yesterday, thirteen carloads of oranges and five of lemons. The total shipments for the season, November 1, to date, are 1217 carloads, of which 1012 were lemons.

THE BIG TRUST GROWS. Brown & Bro.'s cigar factory at Detroit, the largest in the United States outside of New York, has been sold to the American Cigar Company, says the Wholesale Grocer. The price paid for the plant cannot be ascertained, but it is said to have been very steep. It will be known as the Brown Bros. branch of the American Company, and J. H. Brown, who has been president of the company, will be retained as manager. The company employs 12,000 hands and more will be added if they can be found.

The present output of the plant is 200,000 cigars per year. The American Company was organized last year. Its capital, $10,000,000, is fully paid up, and it is backed by the American Continental Tobacco Company. Plants are being established in Chicago, Dayton, Cleveland and Detroit.

NEW YORK MARKETS.

SHARES AND MONEY.

[BY THE NEW ASSOCIATED PRESS—P.M.]

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—The principal characteristic of today's market was the decreasing interest shown even by the professional operators, who have had the market practically to themselves for some time past. The fact that no further gold would go out tomorrow beyond the $500,000 engaged yesterday afforded some relief from the feeling of depression. The growing evidence of a common purpose among the executives of Northwestern States to combat the purposes of the Northern Securities Company and to seek the aid of legislation for that purpose had an unsettling effect on the sentiment. Money remains to be cleared up regarding the actual organization and operation of the settlement which was the object of that company's formation. The transcontinental stocks generally continued to show depression, in spite of the efforts to get prices higher at other points. The local tractions continued in large demand, but were irregular on occasional realizing, and there was strength in the coalers. New Jersey Central particularly rose 6¼ on rumors of a coming increase of dividend. The Vanderbilts developed marked strength at advances of 1¼ to 2 points. Chicago Gas was forced down an extreme 5½ to 88½ in the late dealings, on the news of the heavy appraisement for taxation fixed by the Illinois State Board of Equalization. The American locomotive stocks suffered from realizing. Chicago, Indianapolis and Louisville and St. Louis and San Francisco were strong on reports of good earnings. The money market was distinctly easier today. Foreign exchange continues firm, and the opinion is still held that gold will go out, Saturday, to London direct. Business in railroad bonds was not large, and the price movement was irregular. Total sales, $2,250,000. United States old 4s advanced ¼ per cent. on the last call.

Blood Humors

But for them most people would be well and strong.

They are vitiated or morbid fluids that not only cause pimples and other eruptions, but internal derangements that more and more imperil the whole system.

They course the veins, affect all the organs and functions, membranes and tissues, and cause more suffering than anything else.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is the medicine to take for their thorough eradication and the complete cure of all their inward and outward effects. Mrs. L. Theiss, 61 Willow avenue, Hoboken, N. J., writes: "My son suffered a great deal from eruptions on his face. We gave him Hood's Sarsaparilla, and the pimples and blotches all vanished, and he is a perfect picture of health and strength."

RAILROAD MAGNATES VISIT SANTA ANA.

INTERURBAN ROUTE INSPECTED BY HUNTINGTON PEOPLE.

Believed in Orange County That the Syndicate Will Absorb the Company and Build to Los Angeles—Sunday-school Convention.

SANTA ANA, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The coming of H. E. Huntington and several of his railroad associates to Santa Ana today has set the town agog with various rumors of railroad building. It is believed here that the Huntington-Hellman syndicate will soon, if it has not already done so, absorb the interurban company which grew out of the Santa Ana and Orange Motor Company. With Huntington today were F. E. Trask, vice-president of the interurban road; Epes Randolph, and Chief Engineer Pillsbury of the Los Angeles consolidated electric systems. The party was met at the depot by E. I. Tolle, local manager of the interurban company, and in a carriage was driven over the proposed line of the interurban company between this city and Los Angeles, going via Orange, Anaheim, Fullerton and La Habra Valley to Whittier.

Mr. Trask stated this morning that work on the interurban line between Los Angeles and Whittier will be commenced immediately, and that the Santa Ana end will be in full swing soon. From present indications Santa Ana will early have an electric road to Los Angeles, which will be a part of the systems of the Huntington-Hellman syndicate.

ALMOST A MURDER AT SANTA YNEZ.

PROPRIETOR OF HOTEL SHOT AT IN HIS DOORWAY.

Family Feud in Which He is Not Involved Believed to Be the Cause—High Schools and Football—Death of J. H. Hedgeland.

SANTA BARBARA, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] Mr. Bonetti, proprietor of the Pioneer Hotel at Santa Ynez, had a narrow escape from murder. Late at night he was called to the door and was confronted by a masked man, who asked for a man named Burns. Suspecting that the visit was for trouble, Bonetti said Burns was not in the building. With an oath the masked man fired at him, the bullet from his pistol lodging in the woodwork directly above Bonetti's head. The latter rushed into a side room before another shot could be fired.

Brothers-in-law of Burns are suspected by the officers, as there has been a feud between them and Burns, who formerly was a deputy constable at Lompoc. The officers state that Burns recently beat his wife brutally for attending her mother's funeral, and they believe her brothers determined to get even with him. They think there were two men at the hotel to chastise Burns, and suspecting that Bonetti lied to them, one fired at him. In their haste to depart these men dropped a lap robe, which may serve as a clue to their identity. The Sheriff was notified and officers were at once detailed to go to work on the case.

COIN CAUSES FIGHT AND MORE TROUBLE.

RETRIAL ORDERED IN RIVERSIDE SWEET LIQUOR CASE.

Superior Court Holds That the City Recorder Erred in Admitting Juror With Pronounced Opinion—Rubidoux Golf Finals to Be Played Thanksgiving.

RIVERSIDE, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] A row occurred early yesterday evening at an Eighth-street billiard hall, the result being the arrest of M. Peralto, B. Gonzales and Jim Badilla, who had given Fred Pierce a severe drubbing. The trouble arose over a game of pool. Peralto, Gonzales and Badilla hinted that Pierce had no money to pay his share, when he pulled a handful of coin from his pocket and threw it on the table. Pierce alleges that Badilla seized a $20 gold piece and a silver dollar. The fight followed, and Pierce, after getting much the worst of it, made his escape to the Police Station and told his troubles to the officers. A search failed to discover the money Pierce claims Badilla stole from him.

NEW TRIAL FOR SWEET.

Judge York of Los Angeles, sitting for Judge Noyes, today handed down an opinion in the case of the people against William Sweet, reversing the decision of the City Recorder. Sweet was employed as cook and waiter in a local restaurant, and was tried for alleged violation of the city ordinance prohibiting the sale of liquor.

According to Judge York's opinion, the Recorder erred in admitting a juror who had a pronounced opinion as to the guilt of the defendant when sworn in. Judge York says:

"A juror cannot be allowed to decide for himself whether what he has heard and upon which his opinion is based is public rumor. Such a juror would not only be disqualified at common law, but disqualified under the Penal Code, for he has not brought himself within the provisions of section 1076, as those provisions require an affirmation showing to the court that his opinion is not based upon public rumor, common notoriety or statements from the public journals. Such a showing is not made in this case. There is no evidence whatever to support such a finding of fact, and such a finding of fact is necessary in order that challenge for actual bias can be properly denied.

"Having formed a strong opinion of the guilt of the defendant, and not having sufficiently informed the court of the character of the statements made to him upon which he had formed his opinion, I hold that the juror, Kingsley, was disqualified to act as a juror in the trial of this case in the Recorder's court."

A new trial is ordered, and that the case be tried in accordance with section 1469 of the Penal Code.

SAN BERNARDINO COUNTY'S VICTORY.

RIVERSIDE COUNTY LOSES SUIT IN SUPREME COURT.

Long and Bitter Litigation, Involving a Hundred and Forty Thousand Dollars, Practically Ended—Only Remedy With the Legislature, Holds the Tribunal.

SAN BERNARDINO, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] The people of San Bernardino city and county are naturally elated over the sweeping victory for the county just won in the Supreme Court in the famous county division suit, brought by Riverside county against the mother county, to enforce payment of $132,027.09. Riverside county was formed under an act providing for the settlement and payment by San Bernardino county to Riverside county of the proportion of the value of the property of San Bernardino county over and above the indebtedness of the county. A commission of five persons was appointed to decide upon the amount to be paid. The commission, after considerable delay, made a finding of some $15,000 in favor of Riverside county. Being dissatisfied with the finding, Riverside brought suit against San Bernardino in a Los Angeles court, to have set aside the award of the commission, and asking for a judgment against San Bernardino county for an amount approximating $140,000. Judge McKinley, before whom the case was tried, set aside the award of the commission, and ordered that the case be sent back to the commission for reconsideration, and a new award. Three appeals from this decision were taken to the Supreme Court, Riverside appealing on the ground that the case should not have been sent back to the commission, but that judgment should have been rendered on the findings in favor of Riverside county for the full amount asked for. The decision just rendered by the Supreme Court, which holds that the only remedy is with the Legislature, practically puts an end to the whole matter in favor of San Bernardino county. In the legal battle, which was one of the most bitterly-contested litigations in the history of the State, San Bernardino was represented by Curtis, Oster & Curtis of San Bernardino, and Rodgers & Patterson of San Francisco. Riverside was represented by R. E. Houghton of San Francisco and J. S. Chapman of Los Angeles.

Fisher states today that the company has decided to run the cars as far as possible on the new line, and will begin about Saturday, operating as far as Summit avenue.

FRANK WIGGINS AT HIS OWN FIRESIDE.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE SECRETARY HOME ONCE MORE.

Cordial Welcome for Popular Man. Movement for Arid Land Reclamation and for Creation of Department of Arizona.

Frank Wiggins, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, returned yesterday from Buffalo, where he has been conducting the Los Angeles county exhibit at the Pan-American. Mr. Wiggins is tired from his long labors, but is enjoying good health. He is naturally full of interesting facts pertaining to the exposition, and especially to the California end of it. He believes that Southern California has received more substantial benefit from the Buffalo fair than from any other similar effort at advertisement.

Tomorrow evening Mr. Wiggins will attend a dinner tendered him by Charles D. Willard, Gregory Perkins, F. B. Dennis and F. J. Zeehandelaar.

At the meeting of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday a resolution was introduced and adopted unanimously commending Mr. Wiggins for his "untiring industry, consummate ability, great patience and uniform courtesy" in the superintendence and management of the Southern California exhibit at the Pan-American Exposition and assuring him of the "unbounded confidence, good will and best wishes of every member of the Chamber of Commerce." The resolution was signed by F. Q. Story, Will A. Harris and W. J. Hunsaker.

Mr. Wiggins was then presented by President Cass with a check of $1000, as a donation of regard from many prominent business men of the city.

A resolution of regard for Charles L. Wilson, who served with Mr. Wiggins in Buffalo and returned badly crippled with rheumatism, was introduced by Director Story and unanimously adopted. Mr. Wilson was presented with a check of $250 from the business men of the city. Both gentlemen graciously thanked the Chamber of Commerce and the business men for their rewards and appreciation.

DEPARTMENT OF ARIZONA.

At yesterday's meeting the Chamber of Commerce resolved to make a new effort to have the military department of Arizona reëstablished, with headquarters here. A fresh statement of the case will be drawn up and placed in the hands of Senator Bard for presentation to the board of United States army officers recently appointed by the President to convene in Washington, November 25. It was resolved that Senator Bard be specially authorized and requested to personally and officially present the matter before the said board, with the hope of securing the establishment at Los Angeles of one of the proposed new military posts.

The following delegates have been appointed to the Chinese Exclusion Convention, to be held in San Francisco November 21: A. J. McCone, Horace Coffin and A. Haas.

ARID LAND RECLAMATION.

The Chamber sent this telegram to the President:

"The Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, devoted to the upbuilding of the Southwest, respectfully and earnestly urges that the reclamation of the arid lands be planned and carried into effect solely through the agency of the Federal government, under the policy advocated by the National Irrigation Association."

A revised and greatly enlarged list of late awards to California exhibitors at the Pan-American Exposition has been received by the Charmber of Commerce.

Said He Wouldn't Die.

At Johns Hopkins Hospital is William Clancey, who was slashed across the abdomen with a bowie knife in a brawl several months ago. Clancey's friends carried him in a wagon nine miles, through the broiling sun, to the hospital. He was literally disemboweled, and the doctors, while doing all they could, said he would have to die.

Clancey was asked to make a deposition, but said he had no intention of dying. He showed marvelous vitality. Ten days ago an obstruction was found and the wound had to be opened again, but Clancey came out of the operation successfully, and is now on the high road to recovery.—[Baltimore Dispatch New York World.

Brown: It's curious about people's beliefs. They will give entire credence to the most absurd things and put no faith whatever in the most obvious truths.

Black: Yes, I've noticed it. There's Greene, now. He hasn't the least confidence in hash; but he'll eat all the croquets and mince pie you can set before him.—[Boston Transcript.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND.

STALKING THE WILD BEES.

AVALON, Nov. 20.—[From The [illegible] Resident Correspondent.] There [illegible] are many wild bees on the island, and [illegible] during the dull period some islanders [illegible] devote part of their time to searching [illegible] for the home of the bees. This is done [illegible] by stalking the little insect. The [illegible] stalker either sits by a little pool of [illegible] water and watches the course of the [illegible] bee after it has drank, or takes with [illegible] him in an open vessel a bit of molasses [illegible] or other sweet morsel. When the bees [illegible] have found it they load up and make [illegible] a "bee line" for home. The watcher [illegible] notes the course and follows, scanning [illegible] closely every spot where it seems pos- [illegible]sible for the bee to find a lodging place, [illegible] with success rewards here. Here, [illegible] where there is a dearth of trees, the [illegible] bees make their nests in the rocks, and [illegible] for days ago Clark Reeve and Wil- [illegible]liam Mugrige located a hive up one of the cañons above the golf links in a rocky wall. They ignited a lot of sulphur at the mouth of the hive and yesterday with pick and crowbar they got out forty pounds of fine honey. Some others have located a hive at White's Landing, which they will exploit in a few days.

SANTA MONICA.

HAPPY OVER BONDS.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] The result of Tuesday's special city election, at which the issuance of bonds aggregating $60,000, was authorized, is received with satisfaction and in many instances with rejoicing.

Among the business men there seems to be prevailing sentiment in favor of building a City Hall sufficiently substantial and elaborate so that the cost of the building and site will cover all or nearly all of the $35,000 voted for that purpose. There is pretty sure to be a scramble to sell the ground for the city building. Some estimates place the cost of a suitable site as high as $4000 or $5000. It is possible, however, that private interests affected may bring the amount which the city will have to pay for it considerably below those sums.

The location of the municipal building at any particular place, and especially if it be on a corner, is likely to increase the rental value of all property situated in the neighborhood. It is predicted that in order to have the building near their respective holdings the property owners of different localities may bid against one another toward the cost of the site.

Public opinion is expressed quite strongly against expending the whole of the $35,000 authorized for a bridge on Ocean avenue at Railroad avenue. There is a generally-expressed desire that no more than $12,000 or $15,000 of the city's money should be expended on that structure.

SANTA MONICA BREVITIES.

A number of the owners of property on those parts of those thoroughfares are endeavoring to have Third street, between Oregon and Utah avenues, and Utah avenue between Third street and Ocean avenue, paved.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Electric Railway Company has a large number of ties, and rails enough for between three and four miles of road, stored near the company's new powerhouse, south of Ocean Park. The powerhouse, work on which was begun early in the present year, is nearly completed. The rails and ties are understood to be for the company's Ballona cut off to Los Angeles.

THE MINING FIELDS.

LARGE DEPOSIT OF BISMUTH UNEARTHED.

VALUABLE MINERAL FOUND NEAR GARLOCK IN KERN COUNTY.

A find that is regarded as important to the mining industry of the State was made this week two miles north of Garlock, Kern county, where it is reported a fine strike of silver-copper ore was uncovered.

The find is not remarkable for the high values in either copper or silver found in the ore, although both metals are in evidence, but because the ore is remarkably rich in bismuth, a mineral much sought after, and for which there is ever a ready market.

Samples of the ore received in this city yesterday were taken out of a 4-foot vein, and are said to run as high as 20 per cent. bismuth. The discovery was made in a 50-foot shaft.

At present the world's supply of bismuth is only about three tons per annum, and it commands from $1.50 to $3 a pound. The metal is valuable for medical use, for the silvering of mirrors, and as a constituent of type metal.

Several months ago a small quantity was found in the White Picacho, in northern Mariposa county, and later a few pounds were unearthed in the Eagle Tail mining district of Arizona. Aside from these discoveries, which were of no commercial importance, the West has produced but little of this mineral.

GREEN GROUP OF MOJAVE SOLD.

Another block of eastern capital is to be used in improving that promising district in the vicinity of Mojave. It was reported in local mining circles yesterday that a New York syndicate had purchased the Green property, consisting of two gold claims on which considerable development work has already been done, and that the new company will carry on the work, only on a much larger scale than heretofore.

These claims adjoin the War Eagle.

The Exposed Treasurer mine, in the same district, is now being inspected by its New York owners. Some local capital is also invested in this property, which is one of the coming mines in this end of the State. From a reliable source it is learned that there is almost as much ore blocked out in this property as there is in the famous Yellow Aster, which lies some miles to the east.

JACK RABBIT SILVER.

Chicago capital has secured control of the famous old Jack Rabbit silver mine, situated twenty-two miles south of Casa Grande, Ariz. The syndicate is headed by Dr. J. M. Evans of the Keystone copper and silver mines, and under his supervision they will install a complete plant and will proceed to open up the property on a large scale in about two weeks.

The Jack Rabbit is an old-time dividend payer, and has thousands of tons of ore running from $20 to $100 a ton.

The same company has acquired a group of eleven copper and gold claims still farther south in the Quijotoa district, which are rich in promises. The surface croppings on these claims are in places from 150 to 200 feet wide. They consist of crystallized hematite of iron mixed with copper.

LOCAL CAPITAL GOING IN.

George D. Hooper left last evening for Kingman, Ariz., to begin extensive operations on his railroad group of claims in the Gold Roads camp. In this camp there are about fifty men at work, and they have already sent in several hundred feet of shaft work and drifts. Mr. Hooper states that a great deal of Los Angeles capital is being expended in the section, which is one of the promising districts in the Territory.

"I will let a contract for a hundred feet of shaft work, besides several miles of road work," said Mr. Hooper yesterday. "The contracts have been let in this city both for labor and machinery."

WHERE ROLLS THE COLORADO.

A local mining man, who recently returned from an extended trip through the mineral district, situated between the Hassayampa and the Colorado rivers, states that the section is now active, with prospects that it will develop into a very important field.

The Bullard mine, now being worked by Mr. Bullard, is an active producer and has about 150,000 tons of copper-gold ore in sight. A smelter is needed, and it is understood that Mr. Bullard has volunteered material encouragement to several firms for the location of a plant at that point.

In the Cunningham Pass district some excellent copper deposits have been unearthed and also some gold.

Twelve miles east of the Colorado River, Blanchard & Osborn are making preparations to open up a copper plant on an extensive scale. They have secured control of 114 claims, and all have a showing.

It is understood that the Mineral Hill property, from which in the early days much ore was shipped to England, will again be opened up. In the same corner of the Territory the Billy Mack property has been bonded and will be worked by the Empire Copper Company in connection with their other property.

At Congress the old mill has been taken out and is being replaced by new and up-to-date machinery. If present plans are carried out eighty stamps will be running by the first of next year. This will double the output, and the mine will be then producing sixty to seventy tons daily, having values of $150 to $300 per ton.

HEATING MEETING.

Board of Education Votes to Advertise for Bids for Keeping the Twentieth Street School Comfortable.

The Board of Education met in extra session yesterday afternoon to decide on some sort of heating apparatus for the new Twentieth-street school building, but after an hour and a quarter of talk the question was little nearer settlement than before. However, as was advised by the Building Committee, the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for the heating and ventilating.

The board was in a quandary yesterday; the members wanted to get around the city charter somehow, but couldn't. The charter provides that bids of over $500 value must be advertised for during ten days. The Twentieth-street building is fast nearing completion, and its plans provide only for stove heating. Once it is completed it will be a big job to tear things to pieces to put in a modern furnace. So a ten-days' wait is a hard proposition under the circumstances. Architect Brown was there, and urged the board to make some immediate decision as to what plan should be followed. Still it was not wise to take the first furnace man who came along at his own price, and nothing short of ten days' advertisement would suit the law. Simonton suggested, and Foley objected. After the usual argument the law triumphed, and the ten days will have to be swallowed with the best possible grace while the secretary advertises.

A representative of the Los Angeles Heating Company was present, and explained how he would do the heating. Various letters from northern schools were read, recommending the use of the Morgan system, which was presented before the board by the San Francisco firm at the last meeting. It was decidedly a heating meeting.

Superintendent of City Schools Foshay asked the board what should be done about the Thanksgiving contributions to the poor which are usually made by the school children. The offer of the goods has been refused by the Associated Charities this year, as things are so prosperous that there is work for all the needy. The contribution idea was originated to educate the children in giving to the poor. This year the plan will be dropped.

WRECKED LIFE ENDED.

Alone and friendless, clad in insufficient clothing and having been without proper food for weeks, Cornelius Leonard, a well-known character, crawled into an old shed in the rear of No. 214 Avery street some time Tuesday and died. His body was found there by the people who occupy the house at that number, and the Coroner was notified. At the inquest yesterday the jury returned a verdict that death had been caused by exposure and the excessive use of morphine. For thirty years Leonard had the morphine habit, and during the last of his life he not only used it hypodermically, but also took large doses of it in the form of pills. He was the most confirmed morphine fiend with whom the Los Angeles police have ever had to deal. Many, many times, had he been arrested for vagrancy, and frequently he would apply at the County Hospital for treatment for illness brought on by the use of the drug. He would go to almost any extreme to secure the opiate which his system craved, and although often arrested for petty larceny he would again steal small articles as soon as he was released. His method of injecting the drug was crude, but effective. With a pin, needle or sharp nail he would punch a hole in his arm or body, and insert a small glass tube containing a solution of morphine, and then either with a rubber bulb or by blowing into the tube he would inject the "shot" into the wound and until its effects were away he would be happy.

Leonard was about 40 years of age. His parents resided in San Francisco and there when a mere boy he acquired the morphine habit. At the age of 10 he ran away from home and spent the remainder of his life as a tramp. He traveled up and down the Coast and got into the jails of all the larger cities in this part of the country. For the past six years he had made Los Angeles his home.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.

Wealthy Resident of El Monte Thrown from a Street Car and Seriously Injured.

S. H. Hickox, whose home is in El Monte, but who has been living for some time at No. 1230 South Main street, was seriously injured last night at Fifth and Los Angeles streets. He had boarded a street car for home, but got on the wrong car. He discovered his mistake when the car turned east on Fifth street at Main, so asked the conductor for a transfer and requested that the car be stopped. When the car stopped he started to step off, and just then the car was suddenly started and Hickox was thrown violently to the street. He struck on his head and was picked up almost unconscious. He was conveyed to the Receiving Hospital and there an examination of his wounds showed that he had sustained a fracture of the skull over the right eye. Years ago he had been injured in the same place and the skull there was very weak.

The injured man is a member of a wealthy family and owns considerable property in this city. Near El Monte he has large realty interests. Police Surgeon Pierce could not determine the extent of his injuries last night, but stated that while they were serious he saw no reason to fear a fatal termination.

CAPT'N ELI.

What the students of the Los Angeles Business College don't know about whaling, now, isn't worth knowing. "Capt. Eli" entertained them and their friends for an hour yesterday, relating his experiences in the Arctic seas. Just who "Capt. Eli" is, is somewhat of a mystery, but this much is certain, that he is a good story teller, with more fishy yarns to the minute than usually fall from the lips of an old salt; and that he also has a rare collection of curiosities, in the shape of whaling implements, old harpoons, and other weapons, representing the rise of the whaling industry from its earliest stages to the present day. A large audience listened in the assembly-room of the school, many outsiders being present.

THE MODERN CONSTRICTOR

The man tangled in the tape from the ticker is the type of the average business man. His business cares wrap him about like the coils of a constrictor and slowly crush out his life. The common sign of the business man's slavery is "weak stomach," the natural consequence of the rapid eating, the indigestible pastry, the coffee and pie or doughnuts, with which many a man stuffs his stomach under the name of "quick lunch." The quickest way back to a strong stomach and sound health is to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery until perfectly cured. It goes to the root of disease. It removes the cause of ill-health. It makes more blood and better blood, and this blood nourishes every organ in the body to the highest point of vigorous health.

"During the summer and fall of 1894," writes Chas. H. Sergeant, Esq., of Plain City, Madison Co., Ohio, "I became all 'run down,' nerves were out of order. I wrote to Dr. Pierce for advice. He said I had general debility, and advised Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and, thanks to you for your advice, I used six bottles; and since I stopped taking it about one year ago, I have not taken any medicine of any kind, and now have gain of seven every day. My appetite is good. I can eat three square meals a day, and I do not feel that miserable burning in the stomach after eating. My blood and nerves are in good shape, and I am in good running order."

PASADENA TOURISTS JUST KEEP COMING.

RAYMOND HOTEL TOO SMALL TO HOLD THEM ALL.

Opening of the Green—Milk Wagon on the War-path Damages an Electric Car—Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Injured in a Collision.

PASADENA, Office of The Times, 38 South Raymond avenue, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] The new Raymond Hotel looks pretty large, crowning the pretty hill that overlooks 'most everything in the San Gabriel Valley, but it can't hold its share of the tourists who wish to get away from the ice, blizzards, and other climatic peculiarities of the east. The tenderfeet must have already heard of the parks and things in Pasadena is going to have, and tourist business is looking up to such an extent that Manager Wentworth said this afternoon he guessed Raymond would have to build a little "lean-to" on his house. The addition would make the hotel more than one-third larger. It could be built in time for use next January, but will not be built until after the present season. The prospects are as bright then as they are now, in all likelihood the west wing will be extended 100 feet, containing the same number of stories, four, which are in the main house. One hundred and twenty guest rooms would be thus added.

"The tourist season is very early this year," said Gen. Wentworth. "We now have about 75 per cent. of our rooms engaged for the greater part of the season. Walter Raymond will arrive next Saturday with Mrs. Raymond and their child. They will occupy the cottage on the hotel grounds until the hotel opens. About seventy of our rooms are here, putting things in order. The rooms are about finished, and the furniture will soon arrive and be placed."

DEADLY MILK WAGONS.

A milk wagon belonging to Garth & Dieterle ran into an electric car on the Colorado street this morning. Smashed the glass front of the car, and so injured Motorman Clark that he had to receive medical attention, his hand being cut. The motorman didn't see the cart coming in time to get his car out of the way of it. The owners of the milk wagon think "there's no use crying over spilt milk," and are consoling an injured horse. The electric railway people think there should be an ordinance restricting the speed of milk wagons on the public highways, and may sue for damages.

TROLLEY-CAR ACCIDENT.

James Dewey, the tailor, and his wife have been confined to their beds since Monday on account of a collision with an electric car. On Monday afternoon they were returning from Altadena in a buggy. At the electric railway power-house on South Fair Oaks avenue Mr. and Mrs. Dewey met another vehicle, and some confusion was caused in passing. An electric car from Los Angeles struck the buggy fairly, throwing the occupants out and severely injuring them. No bones were broken, but Mr. Dewey is suffering with an injured rib, and his wife received bruises which are very painful. The victims of the accident were taken to their home on Arcadia street, where they were attended by the electric railway company's physician. The buggy was smashed, but the horse was not hurt.

SANTA CATALINA ISLAND.

STALKING THE WILD BEES.

AVALON, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] There are many wild bees on the island, and during the dull period some islanders devote part of their time to searching for the home of the bees. This is done by stalking the little insect. The stalker either sits by a little pool of water and watches the course of the bee after it has drank, or takes with him in an open vessel a bit of molasses or other sweet morsel. When the bees are found it they load up and make a "bee line" for home. The watcher notes the course and follows, scanning carefully every spot where it seems possible for the bee to find a lodging place, for success rewards here. Here, where there is a dearth of trees, the bees make their nests in the rocks, and a few days ago Clark Reeve and William Mugrige located a hive up one of the cañons above the golf links in a rocky wall. They ignited a lot of sulphur at the mouth of the hive and yesterday with pick and crowbar they got out forty pounds of fine honey. Some others have located a hive at White's Landing, which they will exploit in a few days.

JOSEPH WELCH FOUND DEAD.

RANDSBURG, Nov. 20.—Joseph Welch was found dead on Butte avenue this morning, by J. R. Price and Charlie Beach. The body was taken in charge by Justice Minning, and the inquest this afternoon brought out the information that he came in yesterday from Salt Cañon, a stage station between here and Ballarat, about thirty-five miles out. He was suffering from bronchitis and asthma, and had consulted Dr. MacDonald, who prescribed for him in the early evening, and sent him to the Rand lodging-house, where he went between 8 and 9 o'clock and retired soon after. About 4 o'clock this morning he got up and left the house, and two hours later was found dead in the street.

Little is known of him here. He was about 55 years old, and, so far as known, unmarried. On his person was found $39.50, and a cheap silver watch, but no papers giving further information. He will be buried here tomorrow. A verdict of death from natural causes was rendered by the jury.

CLAREMONT.

COLLEGE-TOWN NOTES.

CLAREMONT, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Resident Correspondent.] J. R. Strong's team ran away today a mile from the college building, and rushed madly up to Sumner Hall, and probably would have reached the entrance, but for forty screaming girls who stood in the way and for whom they turned aside. Nobody was injured.

At the meeting of the Cactus Club Tuesday evening Prof. F. A. Bissell spoke in a scholarly manner of the "Through-life of the Renaissance Period."

Dr. George Gates of Iowa College, who has been called to the presidency of Pomona College, will arrive with his family in about two weeks. Dr. Gates desires to have Mrs. Gates try the California climate before he accepts the call of the trustees.

SANTA MONICA.

HAPPY OVER BONDS.

SANTA MONICA, Nov. 20.—[From The Times' Correspondent.] The result of Tuesday's special city election, at which the issuance of bonds aggregating $60,000, was authorized, is received with satisfaction and in many instances with rejoicing.

Among the business men there seems to be prevailing sentiment in favor of building a City Hall sufficiently substantial and elaborate so that the cost of the building and site will cover all or nearly all of the $35,000 voted for that purpose. There is pretty sure to be a scramble to sell the ground for the city building. Some estimates place the cost of a suitable site as high as $4000 or $5000. It is possible, however, that private interests affected may bring the amount which the city will have to pay for it considerably below those sums.

The location of the municipal building at any particular place, and especially if it be on a corner, is likely to increase the rental value of all property situated in the neighborhood. It is predicted that in order to have the building near their respective holdings the property owners of different localities may bid against one another toward the cost of the site.

Public opinion is expressed quite strongly against expending the whole of the $35,000 authorized for a bridge on Ocean avenue at Railroad avenue. There is a generally-expressed desire that no more than $12,000 or $15,000 of the city's money should be expended on that structure.

SANTA MONICA BREVITIES.

W. T. Gibbon returned to Ocean Park Tuesday after having spent a month in Arizona.

G. E. Forester of Salt Lake City has taken a cottage at No. 133 Hart avenue, Ocean Park, for the winter.

A number of the owners of property on those parts of those thoroughfares are endeavoring to have Third street, between Oregon and Utah avenues, and Utah avenue between Third street and Ocean avenue, paved.

The Los Angeles-Pacific Electric Railway Company has a large number of ties, and rails enough for between three and four miles of road, stored near the company's new power-house, south of Ocean Park. The power-house, work on which was begun early in the present year, is nearly completed. The rails and ties are understood to be for the company's Ballona cut off to Los Angeles.

THE MINING FIELDS.

LARGE DEPOSIT OF BISMUTH UNEARTHED.

A find that is regarded as important to the mining industry of the State was made this week two miles north of Garlock, Kern county, where it is reported a fine strike of silver-copper ore was uncovered.

The find is not remarkable for the high values in either copper or silver found in the ore, although both metals are in evidence, but because the ore is remarkably rich in bismuth, a mineral much sought after, and for which there is ever a ready market.

Samples of the ore received in this city yesterday were taken out of a 4-foot vein, and are said to run as high as 20 per cent. bismuth. The discovery was made in a 50-foot shaft.

At present the world's supply of bismuth is only about three tons per annum, and it commands from $1.50 to $2 a pound. The metal is valuable for medical use, for the silvering of mirrors, and as a constituent of type metal.

Several months ago a small quantity was found in the White Picacho, in northern Mariposa county, and later a few pounds were unearthed in the Eagle Tail mining district of Arizona. Aside from these discoveries, which were of no commercial importance, the West has produced but little of this mineral.

GREEN GROUP OF MOJAVE SOLD.

Another block of eastern capital is to be used in improving that promising district in the vicinity of Mojave. It was reported in local mining circles yesterday that a New York syndicate had purchased the Green property, consisting of two gold claims on which considerable development work has already been done, and that the new company will carry on the work, only on a much larger scale than heretofore.

These claims adjoin the War Eagle.

The Exposed Treasurer mine, in the same district, is now being inspected by its New York owners. Some local capital is also invested in this property, which is one of the coming mines in this end of the State. From a reliable source it is learned that there is almost as much ore blocked out in this property as there is in the famous Yellow Aster, which lies some miles to the east.

JACK RABBIT SILVER.

Chicago capital has secured control of the famous old Jack Rabbit silver mine, situated twenty-two miles south of Casa Grande, Ariz. The syndicate is headed by Dr. J. M. Evans of the Keystone copper and silver mines, and under his supervision they will install a complete plant and will proceed to open up the property on a large scale in about two weeks.

The same company has acquired a group of eleven copper and gold claims still farther south in the Quijotoa district, which are rich in promises. The surface croppings on these claims are in places from 150 to 200 feet wide. They consist of crystallized hematite of iron mixed with copper.

LOCAL CAPITAL GOING IN.

George D. Hooper left last evening for Kingman, Ariz., to begin extensive operations on his railroad group of claims in the Gold Roads camp. In this camp there are about fifty men at work, and they have already sent in several hundred feet of shaft work and drifts. Mr. Hooper states that a great deal of Los Angeles capital is being expended in the section, which is one of the promising districts in the Territory.

"I will let a contract for a hundred feet of shaft work, besides several miles of road work," said Mr. Hooper yesterday. "The contracts have been let in this city both for labor and machinery."

WHERE ROLLS THE COLORADO.

A local mining man, who recently returned from an extended trip through the mineral district, situated between the Hassayampa and the Colorado rivers, states that the section is now active, with prospects that it will develop into a very important field.

The Bullard mine, now being worked by Mr. Bullard, is an active producer and has about 150,000 tons of copper-gold ore in sight. A smelter is needed, and it is understood that Mr. Bullard has volunteered material encouragement to several firms for the location of a plant at that point.

Twelve miles east of the Colorado River, Blanchard & Osborn are making preparations to open up a copper plant on an extensive scale. They have secured control of 114 claims, and all have a showing.

It is understood that the Mineral Hill property, from which in the early days much ore was shipped to England, will again be opened up. In the same corner of the Territory the Billy Mack property has been bonded and will be worked by the Empire Copper Company in connection with their other property.

At Congress the old mill has been taken out and is being replaced by new and up-to-date machinery. If present plans are carried out eighty stamps will be running by the first of next year. This will double the output, and the mine will be then producing sixty to seventy tons daily, having values of $180 to $300 per ton.

HEATING MEETING.

Board of Education Votes to Advertise for Bids for Keeping the Twentieth Street School Comfortable.

The Board of Education met in extra session yesterday afternoon to decide on some sort of heating apparatus for the new Twentieth-street school building, but after an hour and a quarter of talk the question was little nearer settlement than before. However, as was advised by the Building Committee, the secretary was instructed to advertise for bids for the heating and ventilating.

The board was in a quandary yesterday; the members wanted to get around the city charter somehow, but couldn't. The charter provides that bids of over $500 value must be advertised for during ten days. The Twentieth-street building is fast nearing completion, and its plans provide only for stove heating. Once it is completed it will be a big job to tear things to pieces to put in a modern furnace. So a ten-days' wait is a hard proposition under the circumstances. Architect Brown was there, and urged the board to make some immediate decision as to what plan should be followed. Still it was not wise to take the first furnace man who came along at his own price, and nothing short of ten days' advertisement would suit the law. Simonton suggested, and Foley objected. After the usual argument the law triumphed, and the ten days will have to be swallowed with the best possible grace while the secretary advertises.

A representative of the Los Angeles Heating Company was present, and explained how he would do the heating. Various letters from northern schools were read, recommending the use of the Morgan system, which was presented before the board by the San Francisco firm at the last meeting. It was decidedly a heating meeting.

Superintendent of City Schools Foshay asked the board what should be done about the Thanksgiving contributions to the poor which are usually made by the school children. The offer of the goods has been refused by the Associated Charities this year, as things are so prosperous that there is work for all the needy. The contribution idea was originated to educate the children in giving to the poor. This year the plan will be dropped.

WRECKED LIFE ENDED.

Alone and friendless, clad in insufficient clothing and having been without proper food for weeks, Cornelius Leonard, a well-known character, crawled into an old shed in the rear of o. 214 Avery street some time Tuesday and died. His body was found there by the people who occupy the house at that number, and the Coroner was notified. At the inquest yesterday the jury returned a verdict that death had been caused by exposure and the excessive use of morphine.

For thirty years Leonard had the morphine habit, and during the last of his life he not only used it hypodermically, but also took large doses of it in the form of pills. He was the most confirmed morphine fiend with whom the Los Angeles police have ever had to deal. Many, many times, had he been arrested for vagrancy, and frequently he would apply at the County Hospital for treatment for illness brought on by the use of the drug. He would go to almost any extreme to secure the opiate which his system craved, and although often arrested for petty larceny he would again steal small articles as soon as he was released. His method of injecting the drug was crude, but effective. With a pin, needle or sharp nail he would punch a hole in his arm or body, and insert a small glass tube containing a solution of morphine, and then either with a rubber bulb or by blowing into the tube he would inject the "shot" into the wound and until its effects were away he would be happy.

Leonard was about 40 years of age. His parents resided in San Francisco and there when a mere boy he acquired the morphine habit. At the age of 10 he ran away from home and spent the remainder of his life as a tramp. He traveled up and down the Coast and got into the jails of all the larger cities in this part of the country. For the past six years he had made Los Angeles his home.

FRACTURED HIS SKULL.

Wealthy Resident of El Monte Thrown from a Street Car and Seriously Injured.

S. H. Hickox, whose home is in El Monte, but who has been living for some time at No. 1230 South Main street, was seriously injured last night at Fifth and Los Angeles streets. He had boarded a street car for home, but got on the wrong car. He discovered his mistake when the car turned east on Fifth street at Main, so asked the conductor for a transfer and requested that the car be stopped. When the car stopped he started to step off, and just then the car was suddenly started and Hickox was thrown violently to the street. He struck on his head and was picked up almost unconscious. He was conveyed to the Receiving Hospital and there an examination of his wounds showed that he had sustained a fracture of the skull over the right eye. Years ago he had been injured in the same place and the skull there was very weak.

The injured man is a member of a wealthy family and owns considerable property in this city. Near El Monte he has large realty interests. Police Surgeon Pierce could not determine the extent of his injuries last night, but stated that while they were serious he saw no reason to fear a fatal termination.

CAPT. ELI.

What the students of the Los Angeles Business College don't know about whaling, now, isn't worth knowing. "Capt. Eli" entertained them and their friends for an hour yesterday, relating his experiences in the Arctic seas. Just who "Capt. Eli" is, is somewhat of a mystery, but this much is certain, that he is a good story teller, with more fishy yarns to the minute than usually fall from the lips of an old salt; and that he also has a rare collection of curiosities, in the shape of whaling implements, old harpoons, and other weapons, representing the rise of the whaling industry from its earliest stages to the present day. A large audience listened in the assembly-room of the school, many outsiders being present.

Assaulted a Newsboy.

Frank Simpson, a newsboy whose home is at No. 2141 Legrand street, was treated at the Receiving Hospital last evening for a gash over the right eye which it was necessary for the police surgeon to sew up. An Italian peanut vender had dropped some of his wares on the sidewalk near the corner of Third and Los Angeles streets, and with several other lads Simpson started to pick up what he could. The Italian became enraged and dealt the boy a blow on the head, knocking him down and cutting open his scalp. The Italian made his escape before he could be arrested.

Oh, Sybil!

Hotty, toity! Won't Sybil Sanderson be hot! The dear people of Los Angeles are not tumbling over each other to buy seats for "Manon," and Impresario Behymer has gone to see Impresario Grau, to see, you see, if he can't arrange to have Emma Eames in one of her great roles take the place of the lyric Sanderson for the return engagement of the Grau company in Los Angeles. Maybe Mr. Grau will consent to the change, and maybe not. Sybil was not as rapturously received in San Francisco as she thought she should be. If she should come here, after all, the chances are that Los Angeles would try to make her happy.

Floor Covering Savings.

We save you money in this department simply because we are contented with a department store profit instead of a carpet store profit. Carpet stores as a rule have two seasons, spring and fall. They are obliged to make enough during these seasons to carry them through the dull summer and winter months. Not so in our floor covering department. Because of the variety of our stock our trade never slacks up. When trade is dull in floor coverings, our salesmen are busy in other departments. If you will take the trouble to compare prices you will find that all the savings are equal to these we mention.
